The Beard and the Sunnats of Ambiya

By: Mufti Saeed Ahmad Paalanpuri دامت برکاتهٔ

Translated By Mufti Afzal Hossen Elias

ZAM ZAM PUBLISHERS

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (Ambiyaa)

a touts	8
Contents Pretace to the Second Edition	9
	12
Preface to the Second Edition Preface to the First Edition About the Author	14
Preface to the Securion Preface to the First Edition About the Author The Beard Wespy (Waajib) to keep a beard	14
About the Additional About the	17
The Real U
It is compulsory (Magaib) to keep the beard on	10
	18
The heard of Nation Was
Shaving the beard is prombled the	21
Verdicts from Hanafi jurisprudence	22
Verdicts from Shafi jurisprudence Verdicts from Maaliki jurisprudence	22
Verdicts from Maaliki jurisprudence Verdicts of Hanbali jurisprudence	23
Verdicts of Zaahiri jurisprudence	24
Avalid excuse in the light of Shariah
Aperson who shaves his beard is an open sinner (faasiq)
The beard is a recommended practice (Sunnah)	24 of the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام and a demand of nature (fital)
and moustache
Clipping the Nails Removing the hair from beneath the arres	27
Removing the hair from beneath the arms. Shaving the pubic hair Time limits for the	30
Time limits 4	31
5. Tooth stick (32
Special Occasion (Mills Waldk)	35
5. Tooth stick (miswaak)	35
Special Occasions when the tooth stick (miswaak) should be used
•
	36

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa Using a tooth stick (miswaak) increases the value of S	Salaah3
A fasting person may use a tooth stick
(miswaak) even after midday (Zawwaal)	3
6. Cleaning the nose	4
7. Washing the joints of the body	4
8. انتقاض الماء Has three meanings	42
9. Gargling the mouth
10. Lengthening the beard
Clarification of a doubt
"There is no problem in keeping the hair on either sides of the moustache. Hadhrat Umar I and others kept it. (Ihyaa Uloomud-Din)	50
A few more recommended acts (Sunnats) of the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام
11. Circumcision
Meaning of circumcision
Rules of circumcision
Rulings (Masaa'il)
12. Parting the Hair
Regulations regarding the hair
The Beard and natural habits
. Following the customs of the time
External Appearance
No Internal without the External
. Can bearded men deceive?
. The Middle Path
One who Imitates a Nation is One of them
The True standard
. The wisdom of 'opposing the polytheists'
ollowing Rasulullaah 鬓	6

Ambiyaa Well
the Sunnats of the We	68
The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa Residence of the Ambiyaa Resid	68
g. Can we protect	69
show love for an early need someone like triat.	71
9. Can we profess to show love for another?	.72 show love for another 10. Do you really need someone like that 11. Yet Another Excuse
Illat and Hikm	72
The hikmat (wisdom) of cutting the moustache	74
12. Cleanliness during eating and drinking	74
13. Beauty	7/
15 Health reasons
llat	75
Fitrat:-	/5
We seek the protection from displeasing
Allaah and His Rasul 紫	77
A small beard	78
Freedom is an obstruction to Deen	70
References	79
ete onces Taye Pepi lista especial	80

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮

Preface to the Second Edition

This book was published two years ago under the title "The beard and issues of human nature". With the grace of Allaah it was sold out within a few months. The second edition, however, could not be published quickly thereafter. After a space of four years this is the second edition.

The first name of the book was cumbersome and not very clear. Thus, for the second edition the name has been changed to "The beard and Sunnats of Rasulullaahs".

Further, a few significant additions have also been done. A number of important rulings have been added, more references have been included and two new recommended acts (Sunnats) have been brought viz. circumcision and parting the hair. Answers to a number of objections have also been included.

I make du'aa that Allaah accepts this weak effort and make it a means of guidance. Ameen!

Saeed Ahmad Paalanpuri دامت بركاته

Darul Uloom Deoband 14 Sha'baan 1394

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (%)

Preface to the First Edition

While delivering a sermon Nabi sonce mentioned: "The book of Allaah is the best of speeches. The lifestyle of Nabi * is the best of lifestyles. The worst of things are innovations. All innovations are deviant."

The above statement is clear and requires no explanation. The lifestyle of Nabi 紫 (May my parents be sacrificed for him!) is the best and finest of all lifestyles. Lifestyles introduced by men are the worst and most detrimental. If these new lifestyles are regarded as part of Islaam then they are innovations. Every innovation is without doubt a great evil. May Allaah save us from these!

Muslims are requested to take a deeper look at every aspect of their lifestyles. If anything appears to be of a devilish or evil nature then one should return to the lifestyle of Nabi 紫.

In the beauty of the face, the hair plays a major role. It differentiates the beauty of the male and female countenance and takes one out of childhood. Today the hair is a topic on it's own. There are different hairstyles, haircuts and machines used to cut the hair. The most distinctive quality of a male face is the beard. It greatly increases the beauty and splendour of the face. The world sees the beard in many different ways. According to some people, the beard is the essence of male splendour and beauty. According to others, to be clean-shaven is regarded as handsome. Generally, Christians and Fireworshippers, due to culture, and many polytheists, due to religious reasons, regard shaving of the beard as necessary. On the other extreme the Sikhs, Jews and certain Hindu ascetics leave the beard to grow without cutting it. What ever may be the proofs of either group, the fact is that Islaam has avoided extremism and chosen the middle way. In contrast to the first group, Islaam commands the keeping of the beard so that there is no resemblance to a clean-shaven face. In contrast to the second group, Islaam has stipulated a length that prevents resemblance to a beard that grows without being cut.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮

With regards the first group, the Hadith of Ibn Umar & states that Nabi & mentioned: "Oppose the polytheists. Trim moustaches and lengthen beards." In another narration it is mentioned: "Cut moustaches and allow beards to hang." (Bukhari and Muslim)

From the above narrations opposition to the non-Muslims is proven to be an essential objective of Islaam and keeping of the beard is clearly an obligation (Fardh). This Hadith also proves the impermissibility of shaving the beard because of the following important principle: A command to do a certain thing necessitates that the opposite action be forbidden. Thus, as this Hadith makes it obligatory to keep a beard, is also makes it forbidden and impermissible to shave it or shorten it. If shaving is not regarded as forbidden but permissible then the command to grow the beard and not to shave it will become null and void.

These Ahadeeth should be considered by those people who shave their beards not only to fulfil their desires, but, to imitate and resemble the non-Muslims. It is as if their purpose is to oppose this essential object of Islaam, viz. opposing the non-Muslims. May Allaah save us from this and from them. (At-Tashabbuh fil Islaam)

An educated person once addressed a lengthy question to Hadhrat Moulana Ahmadullah Saheb رحمه الله, the Sheikhul The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (SEE) Hadith of Jamiah Husainiyah, Raander. Moulana Instructed this worthless person to answer the question. Thus, a lengthy answer was prepared and dispatched. After a while it was realised that this topic is not specific to any particular group, rather, it would be beneficial to all people. It was decided that it should be published. It was, therefore, prepared appropriately and many additions were made to it. Almost all the rulings regarding issues of natural habits (Fitrah) are a later addition. These will, Insha-Allaah, prove to be beneficial.

The question has been omitted since it is not essential in understanding the contents of the book.

The following books were a big help: "Daari ki Qadar wa Qimat" by Moulana Aashi Ilaahi Merthi رحمه الله , Ät-Tashabbuh fil Islaam by Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Tayyib Sahib رحمه الله and "lífaa ul-Lihyah" by Moulana رحمه الله Madani

May Allaah reward these saints in the best way and may He accept the efforts of this worthless soul. Ameen!

Saeed Ahmad Paalanpuri دامت بر کاته Darul Uloom Ashrafiya Raander, District of Surat, Gujeraat 23 August, 1970

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🎘

About the Author

Hadhrat Moulana Hafiz Mufti Saeed Ahmed Palanpuri studied in the renowned Darul Uloom Deoband - India. Taught in Jamia Ashrafia - Gujuraat for 9 years and currently lecturing in Darul Uloom Deoband for the last 32 years. He has tutored in every science of the Dars Nizaami and has become world famous for his discources and deliberations on Tirmidhi. An average of +_1000 students attend these dynamic presentations daily. Fortunetly it has been documented and soon to be released. Student's acknowledgeing his vast, intense depths of knowledge generally refer to him as "Allamah" and "Bahr ul Uloom".

Besides his tours of U.S.A, U.K, Canada, Zambia, Zimbabwe, Malawi, South Africa and Turkey, he has written extensively especially for the scholars.

He has full command over 5 languages i.e Arabic, Persian, Urdu, Gujuraati and English.

Presently in his life 5 of his works are used as standard text books in higher Institutes of Learning. He has penned works of reputable level on Tafseer, Ahadeeth, Principles of Tafseer, Principles of Ahadeeth, History of Ahadeeth compities, Syntax, Grammar, Etermology, Jurisprudence, Philosophy and logic.

His latest gigantic master piece is the 5 volumes, commentary of the magnus opus of Hadhrat Shah Waliullaah Dehlevi (A.R) "Hujjatullaah Baligha" – called Rahmatutallah ul Wasiyah" each volume extending over

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (%) 850 pages. He has acclodates from most of academic sources of the world for these sterling services. This year (1426-2005) we intend translating few of Hadhratul Ustaad Allamah Saeed Palanpuri's works and on completion "Fatawa Rahmiyyah," we hope to embark on the translation of "Rahmatullaahi Wasihyaa." We

The current work explains with proof and laws of the Sunnan of the Ambiyaa 🕮. May Allaah Jalla Majdahu, grant us the ability to read, study and act upon.

A. H. Elias (Mufti)

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🙉

The Beard

It is compulsory (Waajib) for a Muslim to keep a beard. It is also compulsory (Waajib) that the beard be one fist in length. To shave it without a valid Shari reason is prohibited (haraam). A person who does so is an open sinner. To trim the beard to less than a fist is a near prohibition (Makrooh Tahrimi). To do so on a continuous basis is also a grave sin. There is consensus of opinion in the Muslim world regarding this issue.

Your lengthy question requires that the answer should be explained in detail. The following is, therefore, presented.

It is compulsory (Waajib) to keep a beard

For a Muslim man to keep a beard is compulsory (Waajib). Ibn Umar & narrates that Nabi 紫 said: "Shorten moustaches well and lengthen the beard." (Six Books of Hadith)

In another narration he said: "Oppose the Polytheists. Shorten moustaches and allow beards to grow."

Hadhrat Abu Hurairah & narrates that Nabi 紫 said; "Cut moustaches and lengthen beards and oppose the Fireworshippers." (Six Books of Hadith)

Allamah Mahmood ibn Khattaab Subki Maaliki, while explaining the Hadith, writes:

"A command comes for compulsion (Wujoob) and a compulsory action (Wujoob) cannot be dismissed without proof. This is a well known principle of the science of the principles of Hadith."1

Allaamah Ahmed Nafraawi Maaliki writes: "The word of Imam Abu Zaid and the command of Nabi 紫 indicates towards compulsion (Wujoob)."2

¹ Almanhil al-azb al-mowrud, vol. 1, p. 186

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa Imam Hazam Zaahiri writes: "It is obligatory (Fardh) to cut Moustacries and length Board, Hadhrat Shah Muhadith A commentator of Mishkaat, Hadhrat Shah Muhadith Abdul Haq Dehlawi says: "To keep a beard one fist length is compulsory (Waajib)."4

It is compulsory (Waajib) to keep the beard one fist in length

To keep the beard one fist in length is compulsory (Waajib). This is proven by the example (Sunnah) of Nabi #. The words of Muhaddith Dehlawi mentioning that it is compulsory (Waajib) to lengthen the beard to one fist in length have been mentioned above. The words of Qazi Thanaúllah Paanipati رحمه الله that trimming the beard to less than a fist is prohibited will appear in due course under the section dealing with the verdict of the Hanafi school of thought. The text of Durre Mukhtaar states: "When the beard is the recommended length (Sunnah). that is, a fist in length..."

اسم Muhammad رحمه الله has written in Kitaabul Aathaar: The recommended (Sunnah) length of the beard is the length of one fist. This is done by grasping the beard in the palm of the hand and whatever portion thereof is extra is

All the above texts indicate that the compulsory length of the beard according to the lifestyle (Sunnah) of is one fist. To keep the beard longer than this is not proven from the lifestyle (Sunnah) of Nabi 紫.

In addition, the books of Hadith and Seerah clearly mention that the beards of Nabi &, the companions of Nabi 紫 and the Taabiéen were one fist in length. Also, the six words used in the context of the beard which appear in the Hadith text (these will be explained shortly) indicate that the compulsion (Wujoob) of the beard is not simply ³ Ibn Hazam, al-Mahali, vol 2, p. 320 Muhadith Dehlawi, Ishatul Lamaat, vol. 1, p. 288

² Nafraawi, Sharah Risaalah Imam Abu Zaid

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮

any beard. Instead, an explicit length is intended - one fist length is compulsory (Waajib).

A doubt

Some people assume that Nabi 粪 did not stipulate any fixed length for the beard but only encouraged people to keep one. In other words, if one abstains from keeping such a beard which is like an open sinner or a beard which is generally regarded as a beard amongst the masses then the requirement of Sharia has been fulfilled, whether or not it meets the deduced conditions laid down by the scholars of jurisprudence. (Moulana Modudi, Rasaail Wa Masaail, 1:140)

The Answer

Regarding the beard six words have been used in the Hadith text. First, let us try to understand the meaning of these words and then we can ponder whether a fixed length has been stipulated for the beard or whether any type of beard may simply be kept.

1. اعتوا This word comes from Baab Ifaal (افعال): The scholars of the Arabic language explain its meaning as follows:

He lengthened the beard until the hair became thick and long. (Taajul Uroos)

2. افعال) This word also comes from Baab Ifaal (افعال). It means to complete, to perfect and to fulfil.

(see p. 24) (He fulfilled the vow)

... (He measured in full)

... (He discharged his obligation in full)

This word appears in the text of the Hadith that appears in Muslim Shareef. Hadhrat Ibn Umar 🐇 narrates that Nabi 🖇 said: "Oppose the Polytheists by cutting the moustaches completely and by fully lengthening the beard."

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (SE) i.e. to make a thing wide and long, to leave it

... (He held the reigns of the camel loosely)

... (He allowed the veil to hang)

... (He gave him the permission to utilize it) Other sentences like these further clarify the meaning of

This word also comes in the text of the Hadith that appears in Muslim Shareef. Hadhrat Abu Hurairah 🐇 narrates that Nabi 紫 said: "Cut moustaches and enlarge and lengthen beards, thereby Fireworshippers."

i.e. to allow it to remain in complete form or to leave it freely.

... (He did not take any portion of the prey. He left it in its complete form)

... (He left or delayed the matter)

This word also appears in the Hadith text. Refer to Majmau Bihaaril Anwaar, Allamah Taahir Patni under the رجا root word

5. 156, This word comes from Baab Tafeel. It also comes from Baab Ifaal. In both cases it means to increase or

This word comes in the Hadith text of Musnad Ahmad, Tabrani, Bukhari, Abu Dawood and Muslim. The word فرزي also appears in the Hadith texts of Bukhari

The word comes from Baab Fataha as a command in the present tense. It means to leave freely.

This word appears in the Hadith of Tabrani.

Now, let us look specifically at the actions of Nabi ﷺ and his Companions . The Hadith of Hadhrat Jaabir Ibn The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 😓

"The beard of Nabi # was thick."

The length of it can be deduced from a narration in which Abdullah Ibn Sanjarah Abu Mamar asked Hadhrat Khabbaab Ibn al-Arat: "Did Nabi & recite Quran in Zuhr and Asr Salaah? He replied that he did. He asked: "How and Asi Saladii have known that Nabi 靠 was reciting Ouran?". Hadhrat Khabbaab replied: "By the movement of the blessed beard of Nabi # we used to realize that he was reciting Ouran." (Rawaahu Abu Dawwod Wa Bazzar vol.2, p. 44)

It is clear from the above that only such a beard that was sufficiently long would shake when Quran was recited if the beard was small there would be no question of it moving.

It is narrated concerning Hadhrat Abu Bakr Siddeek & that his beard was thick.

It is narrated concerning Hadhrat Uthman & that his beard was not thick but it was long.

The beard of Hadhrat Ali & was wide and used to fill the area between he two shoulders (Shamsud Duhaa, p. 11) In addition to this, Nabi & used to pass the wet fingers through the beard and this cannot be done in the case of a small beard.

Moulana Maududi has written that the issue of the beard was not important amongst our predecessors. In the books of Sivar and the science of the narrators of Ahadeeth only the lengths of the beards of two or three companions of Nabi & are mentioned. (Rasaall Wamasaail, vol.1 p.145)

This is an error. Firstly, the biographers and authors of the books of the science of narrators of Ahadeeth have not even recorded the biographies of all the companions of Nabi 第. Only the biographies of the most eminent companions of Nabi & have been recorded. For this reason, there is only mention of their beards. Secondly, in that era this was not an issue because all the people

The geard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa arted upon the words of Nabi $6. There was, therefore, no action upon the such a discussion. However, once laxity need to dame the teachings of Islaam and people began of in regulation of the customs, it became necessary to discuss nany case, each person should acknowledge whether the abuse mentioned words refer to a specific length of the heard or not and whether this is really a deduction of the

The scholars of jurisprudence have only stipulated a length done fist in the light of certain Ahadeeth.

Some people may have the doubt that many books state tat is recommended (Sunnah) to keep a beard, hence, you can it be said that it is compulsory (Waajib) to keep t he answer to this is that the beard is recommended (Sumah) because it is proven from the actions of Nabi # and the Hadith and it is not proven from the Quiran. This is similar to the Eid Salaah, which is referred to as Sunnah recommended and Witr, which is also referred to as Sumah (recommended) by some people. Shah Muhaddith

Resping the beard is regarded as Sunnah because the teral meaning of Sunnah is 'the way of Deen' (be this Majb, Sunnah or Mustahab) and also because the Anadoeth confirm the rewards for this. In fact, the Eid stan is also regarded as Sunnah for this reason."5

We have now understood that both the Eid Salaah's are econnended (Sunnah) whereas they are actually crousoy (Waaya) because the recommended suran, meaning the system of Nabl %, and circusory (wujoob) do not contradict each other. It is noted strange to take note of one point here. The monance given to Eid Salaah is even more than an algaby act (Fardh) as people who do not perform

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮

Salaah the entire year will make sure not to miss the Eid Salaah. However, the beard is considered to be of an even lower status than optional (Nafl) whereas both (Eid Salaah and the beard) are recommended (Sunnah) and both are compulsory (Waajib).6

The beard when it is referred to as Sunnah (recommended) can also be explained in that one fist length is Sunnah (recommended) and to lengthen it more than this is contrary to the lifestyle (Sunnah) of Nabi 蹇. This can be understood from the text quoted earlier from wherein he states:

"The recommended verdict (Sunnah) of the beard is to lengthen it to one fist. This may be done by grasping the beard in the palm of the hand and cutting the excess."

By trying to look at the issue differently, people have assumed that one fist is recommended (Sunnah) and less than this, whether by trimming or cutting the beard, is contrary to the recommended verdict (Sunnah). In reality this is an omission of a compulsory act (Waajib) and strictly prohibited (Haraam).7

Shaving the beard is prohibited

There is consensus of opinion in the entire Muslim world that shaving of the beard is prohibited (Haraam). Not even one individual is of the opinion that it is permissible to do so. A few quotations from the senior scholars of Islaam are presented hereunder.

Allamah Mahmood Khattaab writes:

"For this reason the jurist consultants like Imam Abu المائة Hanifah رحمه الله Imam Malik رحمه الله Imam Shafi رحمه الله المائة الما lmam Ahmad رحمه الله, etc. are all of the opinion that it is

⁶ Moulana Aashiq Ilaahi, Dhaari ki Qadar Wa Qimat, p.26 ⁷Moulana Aashiq Ilaahi, Dhaari ki Qadar Wa Qimat, p.36

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 強調 prohibited (Haraam) to shave the beard."8 The verdicts of prohibited (nareally) to shave the beard. The volume and the jurists, who aim to make ijtihaad, clearly declare the shaving of the beard to be prohibited (Haraam) just as the Hadith demands. Hence, it is obligatory for all those who have been entrusted with this responsibility, especially the scholars, not to deviate from the laws communicated upon the tongue of Nabi 紫.9 "Many students of the modern age have become lax. They have shaved their beards and lengthened their moustaches. Some even imitate the non-Muslims by shaving the edges of the moustache and prolonging the portion beneath the nose. Many of the uninformed follow these people."10

Hadhrat Thaanwi رحمه الله writes:

"The text of Durr Mukhtaar, which stipulates the shaving of the beard as prohibited, is clear proof for the consensus of opinion on this issue."11

Having seen these various quotations the verdicts of the scholars of each of the four schools of thought will be individually presented.

Verdicts from Hanafi jurisprudence

- 1. "From this (Hadith) it is known that the actions of some unfortunate Muslims from India and Turkey (i.e. shaving of the beard) is prohibited (Haraam). 12
- 2. "In the same way for a man to shave his beard is
- "To trim it to less than a fist is prohibited (Haraam).

20

⁸ Mahmood Khattaab, Mihhal, vol. 1, p. 186 Mahmood Khattaab, Mihhal, vol. 1, p. 186 Mahmood Khattaab, Mihhal, vol. 1, p. 189

Thanwi, Bawaadir un-Nawaadur, p. 443

Inanwi, Bawaadir un-Nawaadur, p. 445 Moulana Khalil Ahmed, Bazlul Majhood Fi Sharhi Abu Dawood,

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 海通

- "Just as the non-Muslims cut their beards and just as this is a custom amongst them, it is prohibited to cut the beard."15
- 5. "To cut the entire beard is the custom of the Hindus of India and the Fire-worshippers."16
- "To shorten the beard to less than a fist is prohibited
- "To shave the beard or to cut it to less than a fist is prohibited (Haraam)."18

Verdicts from Shafi jurisprudence

Allamah Ahmad ibn Qasim Abaadi Shafi writes in Tuhfatul Muhtaai, commentary of Minhaaj, in the marginal notes: "Note: Ibn Raafia, in Al-Kifayah, has questioned the statements of Rafii and Nawawi that shaving the beard is detested (Makrooh) because Imam Shafi رحمه الله has explicitly declared it to be prohibited (Haraam) in Kitaabul Umm. It can, therefore not be detested, Halimi, in Shu'bul Iman, and his teacher, Oafaal Shaashi, in Mahaasin us-Shariah, have reached the same verdict. Azraí has also mentioned that the correct verdict is that shaving the beard without any valid excuse is prohibited (Haraam)."19

Verdicts from Maaliki jurisprudence

The famous scholar of Maaliki jurisprudence, Sheikh Ahmad Nafrawi Maaliki, has written in the commentary of an article of Imam Abu Zaid:

"The practice of the army soldiers in our times whereby they shave their beards and allow their moustaches to grow is undoubtedly prohibited (Haraam) according to all

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮 the scholars of Islaam. This is because their practice is the scholars of Islaam. This is because their practice is against the lifestyle (Sunnah) of Nabi se and an emulation of the non-musiirns and File-worshippers. 20 Sheikh Ahmad Faarsi Maaliki, who is famous as 'Zowraq', against the measure and Fire-worshippers."20 Sheikh Anmau raarsi waaliki, willo is lamous as Zowray, similarly writes in the commentary of the above mentioned article:

"It is prohibited to shave the beard. Plucking out or shaving the white hair from the beard is also prohibited. Dividing and plaiting it is similarly prohibited."

Verdicts of Hanbali jurisprudence

Al-Iqna is the most authoritative book of Hanbali jurisprudence. The author wirtes:

- 1. "It is obligatory to allow the beard to grow. To shave it is prohibited (Haraam)."21
- 2. To lengthen the beard in such a way that none of it is removed is obligatory. Shaving it is prohibited (Haraam) according to the verdict of Sheikh Tagi ud-22"ر حمه الله Din Subki
- 3. The authoritative verdict of the Hanbali school of thought is that it is prohibited (Haraam) to shave the
- 4. 'To lengthen the beard is obligatory and to shave it is

¹⁵ Sindhi Hashia Nasai, vol.1, p. 7

¹⁶ Durr Mukhtaar Wa Kaza fi Zaylai Wa Sharanbulali (We have omitted the entire text due to length), p. 12

¹⁷ Qazi Thanaullah Paanipati, Maalaa Budda Minh, p. 130

¹⁸ Mufti Abdur Rahim Lutchpuri, Fatawa Rahimiya, vol. 1, p. 75

¹⁹ Åbaadi, Sharah Minhaaj Dar Sharah Fasl Aqiqah

²⁰ Baabul Fitrati wal Khitaan

Abun Naja, Sharfud Din Musa Hajaawi Maqdisi, 968AH, Iqna,

Allamah Mansoor Ibn Idrees Hanbali, Kasshaaf al-Iqna bi Sharhil Igna 33 Allamah Muhammad Safaarini Hanbali, Giza ul-Albaab bi-Sharhi Mukhtasar Al-Muqna dar Fiqh Hanabilah

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮

Verdicts of Zaahiri jurisprudence

"It was the custom of the Fire-worshippers to shave the beard, hence, Shariah has forbidden it and commanded that it be lengthened."25

The words of Ibn Hazam have already been mentioned. After these explicit declarations of the jurists, can there really be a second opinion with regard to the shaving of the beard being prohibited? Can any doubt remain regarding its sinful nature?

A valid excuse in the light of Shariah

Shaving the beard due to a valid excuse in the light of the Shariah is permissible. For example, not being possible to apply medicine upon a wound without shaving it. performing an operation on that portion, removing lice that cannot be removed by other means, or any other valid excuse. The following principle is applied here: "Necessity makes it permissible to do the restricted." An excuse of this nature will allow a female to shave the hair from her head as well.26

A person who shaves his beard is an open sinner (faasig)

The definitions of open transgression (fisq) and an open sinner (faasiq) will first be mentioned. Allamah Firozabadi writes:

1. "Fisq is to ignore and disobey the command of Allaah 🗱, to depart from the path of truth or to be sinful. An open sinner (faasiq) is, therefore, called as such because he departs from the path of truth."27

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 2. "It means to disobey Allaah 🕳. It may include a non-

3. "Fisq means to disobey Allaah 🎏 by performing a major sin. Constancy upon a minor sin also falls within the ambit of a major sin. In other words, to perform a minor sin excessively whether it is of one

4. "A faasiq is one who knows and believes but does

5. "A faasiq is one who continuously does minor sins or does major sins."31 6. "In the terminology of the Shariah, fisq means to leave the boundaries of the Shariah, to sin or to disbelieve. Generally, a sinful act is referred to as fisq and denial of any of the essential components of Islaam is referred to as disbelief (kufr). A faasiq means a person who leaves the obedience of Allaah فسقت الرطبة عن قشرها In Qamoos, it is mentioned meaning 'a date has come out of its covering peel'. From this the word faasiq was coined because a faasiq leaves the path of good."32

After pondering over these definitions it becomes clear that committing a major sin or continuously and excessively performing a minor sin is fisq (open transgression). A person who does so is a faasiq (open sinner). Shaving the beard is prohibited (Haraam), hence, it is a major sin. Cutting the beard to less than a fist, being contrary to the Sunnah-e-Mutawaatira³³, is a near

24

²⁵ Qaazi Showkani, Nailul Awthor, vol. 1, p. 107

²⁶ Fataawa Rahimiah, vol. 2, p. 241

²⁷ Allamah Yacoob Firozabadi, Al Qaamoosul Muhit

²⁸ Saeed Khowri, Aqrabul Mawarid

³³ Qazi Abdun Nabi bin Abdur Rasool Ahmad Nagri Burhaanpuri, Muhaqqiq Saeed Shareef Jurjani, Attareefaat

ibn Alaan Siddiqi Shafi, Daleelul Faaliheen Sharh Riyaadus

Sayed Abdud Daaim Jalaali, Lugaatul Quraan, Kalimah Faasiq 3 A Sunnah practiced by so many people in so many eras that it is Impossible to conclude that they had conspired with each other.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 海 prohibited act (Makrooh Tahreemi) and to persist in doing so is fisq (open transgression).

The beard is a recommended practice (Sunnah) of the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام and a demand of nature (fitrat)

To keep a beard is a recommended practice (Sunnah) of the Ambivaa عليهم السلام and a demand of man's natural habit (fitrat). Fitrat has been explained by Abdur Raoof Misri in the following way:

"Fitrat refers to those special qualities by which an individual's or a nation's personality is built from. For example, bravery, cowardice, sincerity, pride, generosity. miserliness, etc."34

This is the literal meaning of fitrat. We can technically define fitrat in the following way: "Fitrat is a collection of those specific qualities or unique signs which conform to the human natural disposition and which ultimately makeup an individual's or nation's character. Allaah has, by means of the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام, commanded the Muslims to adopt certain qualities by which they would remain distinguished from other nations."

In Islaam, there are many such character building qualities. The beard is one of them. At this point, in conformance with the subject, we present a Hadith and briefly discuss its content:

Hadhrat Aisha رضي الله عنها narrates that Nabi 紫 said:

Ten things constitute fitrat (natural habits): Trimming the moustache, lengthening the beard, using a tooth stick (miswaak), cleaning the nose with water, cutting the nails, washing the joints of the body, removing the hair from the beneath the arms, removing the hair below the navel and washing the private parts after answering the call of

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 漫画 nature." The narrator of the Hadith says: "I forgot the tenth thing. Perhaps it is gargling of the mouth."35

1. Trimming the moustache

Regarding the moustache five words have been used in the Hadith text:

... cut the moustache

جزوا الشوارب b. قص الشوارب

... cutting the moustache ... shortening the moustache

احفوا الشوارب . النهكوا الشوارب d.

... shorten the moustache

thoroughly

... remove the moustache

اخذ الشوارب .e Shaving the moustache has not appeared in any Hadith. 36 For this reason, according to Imam Malik رحمه الله it is prohibited to shave the moustache.

Many of the scholars of Kufa are of the opinion that to shave or remove the moustache completely is prohibited. mam Malik عدمه الله also says this. He even says that one who does so should be disciplined. Imam Qasim narrates that Imam Malik رحمه الله was of the opinion that shaving the moustache is mutilation.37

According to the Hanafi school of thought there is a verdict that regards the shaving of the moustache as a bidat

'In Mujtaba it is mentioned that shaving the moustache is

There is also a second verdict according to the Hanafi School that regards shaving the moustache as a guarantee regarding the chain of narrators.

In one edition of Nasai, the word ... does appear, but there is no Showkani, Naylul Awthor, Baabu Akhzish Shaarib 3 Allai, Durr Mukhtaar, vol. 5, p. 358, Bayaan Hazr Wa Ibaahah,

³⁵ Muslim, Ahmad, Nasai, Tirmidhi, Abu Dawood and Baihaqi have

³⁴ Mujamul Quran

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 独

recommended act (Sunnah). Multaqi ul-Bahr has recommended dot. However, Allai in Durr Mukhtar has referred to this verdict as weak. In Mujtaba, Imam Tahawi referred to this votation and that Imam Abu Hanifa, Imam is reported to have said that Imam Abu Hanifa, Imam Muhammad and Imam Yusuf also regarded shaving it as a recommended act (Sunnah).

The difference of opinion springs from the five words that have been narrated in the Hadith text. Two of these, and احفاء are used to show emphasis and this is achieved when shaving takes place. For this reason some scholars have ruled that it is recommended (Sunnah) to shave it However, this is not so. If shaving was intended then the word خلق is present in the Arabic language. Using another word instead of this word indicates that shaving is not desirable. Thus, the verdict of the Hanafi School of shaving being recommended (Sunnah) is not the preferred

The preferred view, according to the Hanafi School, can be divided into three:

1. So much of the moustache should be cut so that the edge of the upper lip becomes apparent. Ibn Aabideen Shaami guotes from Muitaba:

"The moustache should be cut so that it becomes equal to the upper edge of the upper lip. There is consensus that this is recommended (Sunnah).39 It is recommended (Sunnah) to cut it so short that the redness of the upper lip becomes apparent. It should not be removed from the very root. The text of the Hadith which commands الحفاء means precisely what has been mentioned above."40

2. So much should be cut that it becomes like the eyebrows. The author of Hidayah has written in At-Tainis Wal Mazeed:

The geard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa See Illie preferred that so much of the moustache be cut that falaawa Aalamgiri has also prescribed this method. 3. The entire moustache should be cut. Moulana Khalil

All the five words indicate that the aim is to remove the mam Tahawi mentions that he saw Muzani, the student of mam Shafi, trimming his moustache and he also saw his own scholars doing so. Thus, the preferred view is that shaving the moustache is not an innovation (Bidat).42 The recommended verdict (Sunnah) is to cut it thoroughly so has الله hair is short. Hadhrat Thaanwi رحمه الله has written that the preferred view according to some is to clip thoroughly. Hadhrat Shah Sahib Kashmiri رحمه الله says that trimming it is better than shaving it. Thus, to thoroughly clip all the hair of the upper lip with a scissors is the preferred method. Sayyed Moulana Zakariyya Sahib :savs رحمه الله

A number of scholars of the past took the route that shaving the moustache is recommended (Sunnah). However, the research of the majority of the scholars is that it is recommended (Sunnah) to cut it. Cutting here would mean to thoroughly cut it so that it is similar to

Note:

- · To begin cutting the moustache from the right side is
- It is permissible to cut the moustache by oneself or allow someone else to do so. It has been narrated that the moustache of Nabi * was cut by another person:

Salyed Thanwi narrated from him in At-Taraaif Waz Zaraaif Annal Halag Fa Jaaizun Indal Ahnaaf Khilaafan Limalik (From : ار حمه الله Shah Anwar Shah المعادلة d Khasaail Nabawi, Sharah Shamail Tirmidhi, p. 93

⁴⁰ Ibn Hajar, Nuqila Anhu fil Bazl, vol. 1, p. 33

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🏨

Taariq Ibn Habib narrates that once a barber cut the moustache of Nabi 紫. He saw a white hair in the beard of Nabi and wanted to remove it. Rasulullaah 紫 caught his hand and said: 'A person who reaches any degree of old age then this will be a source of light for him on the day of Haafiz Badruddin Aini رحمه الله mentions in Umdatul Qaari, a commentary of Bukhari:

"A person has a choice regarding the cutting of the moustache. He may cut it on his own or allow someone else to do so since the purpose is fulfilled in both cases. However, one should not allow another person to cut the hair from beneath the arms and the pubic hair." (Aini)

Note:

The hair of the nose should be cut with a scissors and should not be plucked out. (Sharhus Sunnah, Mirgaat, vol. 4, p. 456)

2. Clipping the Nails

There is no specific method of clipping the nails. They may be cut in any way beginning and ending at any finger. However, beginning from the right hand is recommended

It is best to bury nails that have been cut. In As-Siraaj ul-Wahhaaj it is stated that hair from any part of the body, nails and any part of the body which is separated from the body should be buried.45

If it cannot be buried then it should be placed on an elevated place. Putting it in a place of high usage will prove to be hazardous to health. In Fatawa Rahimiya it is mentioned that throwing away of hair and nails is permissible.

44 Mughni, vol. 1, p. 91

The geard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮

3. Removing the hair from beneath the arms In Mujtaba, some scholars have been quoted to have said that both shaving the hair from beneath the arms or plucking them out are commendable (Shaami). However, n the Hadith text the word with has been used, meaning to uproot the hair. It is, therefore, better to remove the hair

a. The hair will take longer to reappear, thus, there will be no need to frequently remove the hair. b. A minimal amount of odour will issue from beneath

c When the hair root comes out again it will not

However, if one is not in the habit of plucking the hair out from the roots or one cannot endure the discomfort then it الله acceptable to shave the hair. Imam Nawawi رحمه الله has narrated an incident in which Yunus Ibn Abd al-Aála acame into the presence of Imam Shafi رحمه الله. A barber was at the time shaving his hair. He said to Yunus رحمه الله I do realize that it is recommended (Sunnah) to pluck out the hair, however, I cannot tolerate the discomfort. 446

Note:

- 1. It is preferred (Mustahab) to begin from the right
- 2. It is permissible to use a hair removing ointment to remove the hair beneath the arms.⁴⁷
- 3. To allow another person to remove the hair from beneath the arms is a matter of differing opinions amongst the scholars. Some regard it as detested (Makrooh). Others regard it as even less reprehensible than detested (Makrooh). Allamah

30

⁴⁵ Thaanwi محمه الله, At-Taraaif Waz-Zaraaif, vol. 3, p. 122

ر حمه الله Showkani رحمه الله, Nailul Awtaar

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa

Aini's opinion has been mentioned in the discussion on the moustache that the hair beneath the arms and the pubic hair should be shaved by oneself. Imam Nawawi رحمه الله held the same opinion.

However, in a case of necessity it is permissible to allow another person to shave it. It has already been mentioned early in this book that Imam Shafi رحمه الله allowed a barber to remove his hair.

4. Shaving the pubic hair

1. Some scholars are of the opinion that the Arabic term ale refers to the hair growing around the frontal private part area of a male or female. Ibn Suraij is reported to have said that ale refers to the hair around the hind private parts of a male or female. However, the most authoritative verdict of the research scholars is that both the front and hind private parts are referred to as عانه. Imam Nawawi :savs رحمه الله

"By combining both the above-mentioned statements we realize that to remove the hair from both the front and hind private parts is preferred (Mustahab). Sayyed Murtaza Zabidi has mentioned the very same thing in 'Ittihaaf us-Saadatil al-Muttaqeen' (vol.5, p. 415). Therefore, this is the correct verdict.

Showkani's رحمه الله objection is not particularly strong. He says that literally 'Aanah' means that portion below the stomach where hair normally grows. Hence, how can the hind private part be referred to as the 'Aanah'? The word has been explained in another Hadith as مُلَقَ العَانه . Therefore, it is not correct to take its meaning in a general way. In addition, there is no proof of Nabi 🗯 and the companions of Nabi 紫 shaving the hair from their hind private parts.

The geard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (This objection is not valid because it is possible to extract This objection is not valid because it is possible to extract a proof from the literal meaning of the word 'Aanah'. a proof from the means the portion beneath the lierally the word raman means the portion beneath the something where the hair grows. However, figuratively it neans hair since only hair can be shaved. In addition to this, the hair that begins to grow below the stomach ends this, the hair of the thighs is different from this hair despite not being completely separate. This difference is easily visible to everyone. Hence, the 'Aanah' will refer to all the hair that begins from below the stomach to wherever it reaches. Thus, the shaving of the 'Aanah' of Nabi ﷺ and the companions of the Nabi % included all the hair discussed above. Each section of hair is not dealt with individually. has narrated this very same ruling رحمه الله Hadhrat Thanwi from the commentator of Riyaadhus Saaliheen. He explained the wisdom of shaving the hair of the hind private parts in the following words:

Shaving is due to the fear that impurity may remain attached to it and may not be possible to remove when one cleans the private parts (istinja) after answering the call of nature."48

2. In the Ahadtih text the words حلق (shaving) and (using a blade) have been used. It is, therefore, best that one uses a razor blade or a metal shaving object as this increases the virility. 49

It is best to shave it since this conforms with the words of the Hadith and Hadhrat Ibn Umar & mentioned that Nowrah (a hair removing ointment) is an latter day

3. To cut it or to remove it by using lime, soap, etc is Permissible. Shaami المعادة has mentioned this by quoting from Hindiya. Ibn Qudama has written:

⁴⁸ At-Taraaif Waz-Zaraif

Meraraan waz-zaran Waliyaate Nafsi, p. 418, Sadidi, p. 95, Aqsaraa'l, p. 90

"It is acceptable to clean the pubic area with anything since the aim is to remove the hair. Once Imam Ahmad was asked: 'Is it acceptable to remove the pubic hair with scissors since all the hair is not cut properly?' He replied: I think it would suffice, Insha-Allaah.' He was then asked: Is it acceptable to pluck out the pubic hair? He answered: 'Can a person have the ability to endure this? However, it is acceptable to use Nowrah." (Muhgni, vol. 1, p. 86)

Allamah Showkani حمه الله also said that it is permissible to pluck out the hair. However, the command of plucking applies to females even though Showkani did not expressly mention this.

- 4. It is recommended (Sunnah) for females to pluck out the hair. Shami رحمه الله narrates from Ibn Nujaim's Al-Ashbaar Wan-Nazaair: "The recommended (Surmah) in the case of females removing the pubic hair is to pluck it out from the roots." This ensures that the area remains desirable for the female gender. However, if there is pain then it would be preferable to use lime, soap, etc since this also keeps the area soft. The final permissible option would be to shave the hair with a razor.
- The pubic hair should be removed from immediately below the navel. (Shami and Aalamgiri vol. 5, p. 368)
- 6. In most people there is a clear difference between the hair above the navel and below the navel. However, some people have a lot of hair on the chest and stomach which may lead to confusion. In this case it is clear that the hair below the navel is the hair to be shaved and not the hair above the navel.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa &

Time limits for the above-mentioned actions The preferred to do the four actions mentioned above of the moustache, clipping the nails, shaving the hair breath the arms and shaving the pubic hair) once in a Repet. This is best on a Friday. It is permissible to clean the hair once in twenty days also. However, not to remove the hair for longer than forty days is near prohibition Makrooh Tahrimi) and a sin. Hadhrat Anas 👛 said: Rasulullaah # said that we should not exceed forty days noutting the moustache, clipping the nails, removing the hair from beneath the arms and shaving the pubic hair."50 nother words, forty days should be the maximum time. negafter, it is not acceptable to leave the respective parts without cleaning them. It is near prohibition Makrooh Tahrimi). Now Salaah also becomes detested (Makrooh).

Hadith: Rasulullaah 紫 used to clip his nails and trim his moustache every Friday, remove his hair from the navel on the twentieth day and remove the hair from beneath the ams on the fortieth day.51

5. Tooth stick (miswaak)

勵業emphasized striving for purity and cleanliness. One particularly important thing which he greatly encouraged has the tooth stick (miswaak). In the Hadith he placed

If I did not fear that my nation would be cast into difficulty Would have made the use of the tooth stick (miswaak) man of understanding in today's time knows the realth benefits of using a tooth stick (miswaak) and its pelenting of many diseases. From a spiritual point of

Ahmad, Tirmidhi, Nasai, Abu Dawood Ataleeg us-Sabeeh, vol. 4, p. 405

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 独

view, however, it is important for it draws the pleasure of Allaah 38.52

Special Occasions when the tooth stick (miswaak) should be used

Rasulullaah * used the tooth stick (miswaak) whenever he awoke from sleep, particularly at Tahajjud time. Whenever he came into his home he would use it before doing anything else. This shows that using a tooth stick (miswaak) is not confined to Wudhu. After awaking from sleep or if a long time has elapsed wherein the tooth stick (miswaak) was not used then it is preferable to use it. even though Wudhu is not being performed.

Our scholars have deduced from this very Hadith that using a tooth stick (miswaak) at all times is preferred and praiseworthy. However, there are five times when it is even more encouraged:

- 1. During Wudhu.
- 2. When one is about to stand for Salaah. This applies only if a long time has elapsed between the Wudhu and Salaah.
- 3. Before commencing with the recital of the Quran.
- 4. When awaking from sleep.
- 5. To clean the teeth when a bad odour has developed in the mouth or the teeth have changed colour.53

Using a tooth stick (miswaak) increases the value of Salaah

Hadhrat Aisha رحمه الله narrates Nabi 紫 saying: "The value of that Salaah for which tooth stick (miswaak) is used is seventy times more meritorious than a Salaah for which ⁵² Moulana Muhamad Manzoor Nomani, Maáriful Hadith, vol. 3, p.

⁵³ Moulana Muhamad Manzoor Nomani, Maáriful Hadith, vol. 3, p.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa Kill The Dean In Shu'bul tooth stick (miswaak) was not used." (Baihaqi in Shu'bul The Hadith means that a Salaah before which a tooth

The Hautti means used is many times more meritorious slick (miswaak) was a salaah before which a (tooth stick (miswaak)) was not used. Taking the literal meaning of 'seventy' would also

A person standing in the lofty court of Malikul Mulk and Apklamul Haakimeen (titles of Allaah 🎉) with the intention of speaking to Him in Salaah should rightfully think that the majesty and greatness of Allaah 饕 would be best respected by washing his mouth and tongue with musk and rosewater before asking from Him. However, Allaah has been kind and merciful enough to command the use of only the tooth stick (miswaak) for this purpose.

f a person uses a tooth stick (miswaak) before Salaah with such respect and honour for Allaah 3 then his Salaah can rightfully be more than seventy times higher in status then a Salaah with no tooth stick (miswaak).

A fasting person may use a tooth stick (miswaak) even after midday (Zawwaal)

Hadhrat Imam Shafi رحمه الله says that it is detested (Makrooh) for a fasting person to use a tooth stick (miswaak) after midday (Zawwaal) because the fragrance which emits from his mouth due to an empty stomach is more loved by Allaah ∰ than musk. By using a tooth stick (miswaak) the smell is removed.

The Hanafi scholars, on the other hand, say that the fragrance from the mouth of a fasting person is due to an empty stomach and this cannot be removed by using a looth stick (miswaak). A tooth stick (miswaak) will removes the odour of the mouth, which is necessary to remove. The majority of the scholars agree with this verdict. Pondering over the proofs of the jurists convinces one about the strength of this verdict.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🞘

The Hadith in which it is mentioned that the breath of a fasting person is more fragrant than musk in the sight of Allaah 🎉, does not deal with the tooth stick (miswaak) rather, the virtues of fasting. In other words, when the smell (a disliked thing) from the mouth of a fasting person is so loved by Allaah it then how valuable would his entire fast be?

Hadhrat Shah Waliullah رحمه الله has written a similar

"The Hadith in which it states that Nabi 鑑 used a tooth stick (miswaak) while fasting and the Hadith regarding the fragrance emitting from the mouth of a fasting person do not contradict each other. Statements of this nature are used for emphasis. It is almost as if Nabi 紫 has said that Allaah solves a fasting person so much that if there is an odour emitting from his mouth then on account of His love this odour would also be loved." (Hujjatullah, vol. 2, p. 173)

In addition, it is narrated that Nabi 紫 used the tooth stick (miswaak) in abundance while fasting. Aamir Ibn Rabiáh narrates:

"I could not even count how many times I saw Nabi 紫 using a tooth stick (miswaak) while he was fasting." (Bukhari, Abu Dawood, Tirmidhi, Humaidi, vol. 1, p. 77) This Hadith is general and, thus, it would apply to the time after Zawaal as well. In the title of a chapter in Bukhari, Hadhrat Ibn Umar's & verdict is mentioned wherein he states that a fasting person is allowed to use a tooth stick (miswaak) at the beginning or end of the day."(Taiseerul Wusool, vol.2, p. 311)

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa Well 1. A tooth stick (miswaak) should be of a soft type like a

2 During times of necessity any such thing which cleanses the mouth such as a finger, a rough cloth, etc, would also suffice in fulfilment of the

3. Tooth powder or toothpaste will also suffice in fulfilment of the recommended act (Sunnah) of the tooth stick (miswaak). 4. A toothbrush will also suffice in fulfilling recommended requirement (Sunnah). However, the health benefits of a tooth stick (miswaak) will not be attained. For this reason, it should not become a habit or custom. It cannot replace a tooth stick (miswaak). Continuous use of a toothbrush harms the gums, as well. (Fataawa Darul Uloom, vol. 7, p. 251)

Fatawa Rahimiyah states that the primary recommendation (Sunnah) of the tooth stick (miswaak) is to use a wooden twig. If this is not available, if one has no teeth or if the teeth and gums are painful by use of the tooth stick (miswaak) then it would be acceptable to use one's finger, a coarse cloth, tooth powder, toothpaste or a toothbrush. However, if a tooth stick (miswaak) is available then using any of these things would not fulfil the recommended act (Sunnah) and the full reward of the recommended act (Sunnah) would not be attained.

The fingers will not be equal to a tooth stick (miswaak) if a tooth stick (miswaak) is available." (Kabiri, p. 32, Bahr,

When fingers cannot be used if a tooth stick (miswaak) is available then how can a toothbrush or anything similar be The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮

Note:

1. Wherever an odour may emit from in the mouth (teeth gums, tongue, palate, etc) one should use a tooth stick (miswaak).

It is preferable that the tooth stick (miswaak) be thoroughly used throughout the mouth ensuring that the phlegm from the throat and chest is removed, also. By doing this properly sores will not develop in the mouth, the voice will become clear and the mouth will be fragrant (Hujjatullah, vol. 1, p. 450)

2. The tooth stick (miswaak) should be held with the right hand. (Al-Minhal)

3. It is best to use it horizontally. Using it vertically is also permissible.

The Ahadeeth, which have been narrated regarding the use of the tooth stick (miswaak) horizontally, are all weak. See Al-Minhal, vol. 1, p. 178)

"A tooth stick (miswaak) should be used horizontally and vertically on the teeth. However, horizontal is the choice if one chooses to use the tooth stick (miswaak) in only one direction." (Al-Minhal, vol. 1, p. 179)

بشوص فاه " Wherein he states ه wherein he states المام The Hadith of Abu Musa

ال is translated as 'horizontally'. However, Imam Waki رحمه has translated it as 'vertically.' (Muqaddamah Fathul Bari, p. 138)

6. Cleaning the nose

Islaam has placed great emphasis upon purity and cleanliness. A Hadith states:

"Allaah 环 is pure and loves purity. He is neat and loves neatness. He is kind and loves kindness. He is generous and loves generosity. Therefore, keep your courtyards neat. Do not imitate the Jews."54

These words have been narrated by Saéed Ibn Musayyab and the Hadith is mowkoof. Another narration of Sad Ibn Abi Waqqaas

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 绘画 In Islaam every limb of the body should be kept clean, because some parts of the because some parts. In Islaam every IIIID of the body should be kept clean, because some parts of the body because some parts of the body specially advised that the special tha een clothing. However, because some parts of the body advised that these be specially advised that these be specially and nose are the mouth and nose are the special part of the mouth and nose are the special part of the mouth and nose are the special part of the mouth and nose are the special part of the mouth and nose are the special part of the mouth and nose are the special part of the body and the special part of the bod saliner impurity 19401  Specifically auvised that these be also shall be specified and some are examples idealed. Cleanliness of the mouth and nose are examples of this. fat anytime one perceives impurity in the mouth, one should clean it by use of the tooth stick (miswaak). smilarly, if one perceives impurity or odour from the nose smilarly, in one perceives imparity of outour from the riose, the it should immediately be cleaned out. Using water to then the nose during Wudhu is recommended (Sunnah)

Human nature, also, requires that the mouth and nose be clean. A persons associates would naturally become disturbed if these impurities are not cleaned.

1. To clean the nose, water should be inserted into the nostrils and blown out with a strong exhalation. By doing this a number of times, the nose will be thoroughly cleansed.

2. Water should be inserted into the nose with the right hand and the nose should be blown with aid of the left

3. If there is a need to insert the finger into the nose to remove any impurity then the left hand should be

4. While fasting it is not permissible to draw water high up into the nose because of the possibility of water penetrating into the brain and, hence, nullifying the fast. A Hadith states:

Cleanse the nose thoroughly by properly inserting water berein, except while fasting." (Abu Dawood, Tirmidhi,

7. Washing the joints of the body

Literally it means: "The back of joints of the fingers where has the same words and it is marfoo, but, the words 'Do not This the same words and it is manou, but, the Chapter of

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa

However, the Hadith is not confined to only this meaning. Every such part of the body is intended wherever dirt may accumulate.

"The scholars have mentioned that the dirt which gathers in the fold of the ear and the inside of the ear is included in this. This should be removed by wiping it away or by any other method." (Showkani, Nailul Awthar)

"The mucous which gathers in the nose and dirt which gathers in any part of the body due to sweat or dust should also be removed." (Al-Minhal)

In summary, every such part of the body where dirt may gather has to be cleaned as a demand of nature. This is to keep the body presentable."

Moulana Muhamed Manzoor Nu'mani رحمه الله has stated that some senior scholars have mentioned that a principle is learnt from this Hadith. Cleanliness of the body. neatness of appearance, removal and prevention of anything displeasing or distasteful are part of the laws of nature and the system of the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام.55

Ibn Qudamah has stated in Mughni that to wash the tips of the fingers after cutting the nails is preferred (Mustahab). This may be implied from the word براجم because scratching them before washing them may cause scabies. (Mughni, vol. 1, p. 88)

8. انتقاض الماء Has three meanings

a. To wash the private parts with water If the impurity (urine or faeces) has not passed further than the point of exit then it is recommended (Sunnah) to wash the area with water. This is the demand of nature as well. If the impurity has passed further than the point of exit then the rule is like other types of impurity, i.e. it is necessary to wash it with water. (Waki رحمه الله has taken this meaning).

b. Preventing Urination

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (See) The Bear with water to prevent the passing Washing the private part with water to prevent the passing w Washing the private part with water to prevent the passing of Urine. (Abu Ubaidah, the Imam of Lugat, explained this Sprinkling water on the private parts making wudhu to meaning).

c. Sprinkling water on the private parts The third meaning is unat after making would to sprinkle some water with a wet hand so that one sprinkle some water with a well frame 30 that one remains safe from the doubts of Shaitaan. (This is the remains sale from the obtains of or analyzation of the scholars since a Hadith mentions tills clearly).

A Hadith states: "When Nabi 霧 used to pass water he used A Hadriti States.

10 make wudhu and sprinkle water on his clothing covering the private part area."

9. Gargling the mouth

Garding the mouth ensures cleanliness and purity. To throughly clean the mouth as far back as the throat is amongst the important rulings of Islaam.

Note:

- 1. Gargling the mouth in wudhu is recommended (Sunnah) and in ghusal it is obligatory (Fardh).
- 2. While fasting it is detested to gargle the mouth with force⁵⁷ since this may cause water to enter the throat and render the fast invalid.

10. Lengthening the beard

We have intentionally left the topic of the beard to last so that there is continuity in our subject content.

Note:

 $^{\rm 1.\ The\ beard}$ is that hair which grows on the cheeks and

⁵⁶ Al-Minhal, vol. 1, p. 191 Naful Mufti Wassaaíl, p. 25

⁵⁵ Maáriful Hadith, vol.3, p. 62

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🙊

Below the sideburns there is an elevated bone. From here the beard starts. Above this is the hair of the head.

2. To lengthen the beard to one fist is recommended (Sunnah). Longer than this should be cut.

The demand of the text of the Hadith is that the beard should be left to grow as long as possible since the Ahadeeth mention 'allow the beard to hang', 'lengthen the beard' and 'do not touch the beard'.

However, contrary to this unspecific ruling, a Hadith states that Nabi used to trim his beard horizontally and

However, the exact method of trimming has not been narrated in any Hadith. This is proven from the actions of the companions of Nabi 義. Hadhrat Abdullah Ibn Umar 🖏 who loved to follow the lifestyle of Nabi 紫 (Sunnah) to perfection, has been described in a narration as having had the habit of trimming the beard to a fist length. This shows that this action is recommended (Sunnah).

- 3. To remove or shorten the beard is prohibited (Haraam). The words of the Hadith mean 'lengthen!' and a command in the Hadith represents compulsion (wujoob). It is, therefore, compulsory (Waajib) to leave the beard to hang down. Disregard of this command is, thus, prohibited (Haraam). When one removes or shortens the beard, this command is disregarded and it becomes prohibited (Haraam). (Islaahur-Rusoom, p. 16. chap. 6)
- 4. To knot the hair of the beard or to push it inwards is also not permissible. By doing this the command to allow the beard to hang down is being defied.

The Bear House Said to Ruwalfi . "You will live longer than I Rasulullaah $ said to Ruwalfi hen that a never the neonle then that The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (28) Resulullaah & said to Ruwaiii &: "You will live longer than I to Inform the people then that a person who knots his to Inform the people then that the Nahi with it the Nahi wit do inform the peuple their that a person who knots his the Nabi sis distanced with it, the Nabi sis distanced Nasia Taisirul Mills beard or does anything with it, the NaDI 第 IS distanced from him. (Abu Dawood, Nasia, Taisirul Wusool, vol. 3, p.

11) If the hair of the cheeks becomes longer than a fist in length then it is permissible to cut it. (Al-Minhal, vol. 1,

6. The hair at the centre of the lower lip above the chin is also regarded as part of the beard. To shave or cut it is

It has been narrated in Hadith that a few of the hairs of the lower lip of Nabi 紫 above his chin were white. 59 From this we learn that to keep this hair is also necessary.

7. If the beard of a female begins to grow then it is preferred (Mustahab) to remove it. (Fatawa Rahimiyah, vol. 2, p. 246)

8. If the beard is thick it should be honoured. It should be washed properly. Oil should be applied to it and it should be combed. A Hadith states: "A person who has hair should honour it."60

However, a person should not occupy himself in the worry of beautifying his beard. Abdullah Ibn Mughaffal 🐇 mentioned that Nabi & prohibited the combing of hair

9. Removing or cutting the white hair of the head or beard is detested (Makrooh).61

In Muslim Sharif a Hadith states that Hadhrat Anas 🐞 disliked that a person remove his white hair. (Taisirul Wusool, vol. 4, p. 196)

Nabi 觜 said: "Do not remove white hair. A person who feaches old age in Islaam, this (old age) will be a light for him on the Day of Judgement." In another narration it is Mihayah Ibn Kathir, vol. 3, p. 151, Taisirul Wusool, vol. 4, p. 197. (A narration from Muslim and a narration from Sheikhain are

Sunan Abu Dawood fi Islaahish Sh'ar min kitaabit tarajjul

⁵⁸ The reference for this Hadith appears in the next footnote.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🙊

stated that Allaah se will record for him a reward because

Dailami has narrated from Anas & that Nabi * said: "On the day of Qiyamah the white hair of a person who intentionally removed them will be transformed into spears

Durr Mukhtar states that there is no problem in removing white hair provided this is not done for beauty. However, nowadays, people are doing just this. Their actions reveal that they are doing so with the intention of beautification. They would like to hide the white hair and appear young. This is why the prohibition has been mentioned in Hadith.

10. Regarding the hair on either side of the centre of the lower lip, a narration of 'Matalibul Mumineen' says that that there is no problem in shaving it. In Ihya ul-Uloom'this has been mentioned to be Bidah (innovation). The correct verdict, however, is that this is permissible. Hadhrat Thanwi رحمه الله has written:

"There is no problem in removing the hair on either side of the centre of the lower lip. Sheikh Abdul Haq Muhaddith Dehlawi رحمه الله has written in 'Siraatul Mustageem' that to remove the hair on either side of the hair at the centre of the lower lip is acceptable." (At-Taraaif waz-Zaraaif)

11. Removing the hair from the elevated portion of the cheeks is permissible. However, it is best not to do so. (Faizul Baari, vol. 4, p. 38)

12. When the hair of the head or beard becomes white then dye should be applied. A Hadith states: "The Jews and Christians do not dye their hair, hence, you should dye your hair in order to oppose them."64

13. For men it is recommended (Sunnah) to dye (with henna) the hair of the head and beard only. Dyeing of The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (AMB) the hands and feet without a valid reason is prohibited

(Hargarin).

Hadhirat Abu Hurairah & narrates that a eunuch was once Hamfal Advironment was office to had been dyed. polyntu wan asked: "Why has he done this?" People Rasulullaah 紫 "He wants to imitate females." Rasulullaah 紫 ommanded that he be expelled from Madinah. The omnianions of the Nabi 觜 asked: Why can we simply not Milhim?" Rasulullaah 紫 replied: I have been prohibited from taking the life of a person who performs Salaah." ды Dawood, vol.2, р. 326, Baabul Hukmi Fil

Hadhrat Anas ♣ narrates that Nabi ≴ prohibited the use of saffron. (Taisirul Wusool, vol. 2, p. 137)

mam Nawawi states that this prohibition is due to the colour and not the fragrance, as fragrance is liked for

For a married woman it is preferred to dye her hands and feet. (Al-Haawi Lil-Fataawa Lil Imam us-Suyuti. vol. 1, p.

hadhrat Aisha رحمه الله narrates that once a woman stretched out her hand from behind the veil and presented a letter to Nabi 紫. Rasulullaah 紫 pulled back his hand and said: "How do we know if this is the hand of a man or NOMan?" The woman replied: "This is a woman's hand. Rasulullaah 紫 said: "If you were a female there would have teen henna on your nails." (Abu Dawood, Nasai, Taisirul hadhrat Aisha محمه الم narrates that Hind bint Utbah wanted to pledge allegiance to Nabi 紫. Rasulullaah 紫 replied: "I not allow you to take the pledge of allegiance until you apply henna and change the colour of your palms. Your palms are like the palms of an animal." (Abu Dawood, lasai, Taisirul Wusool, vol. 2, p. 137)

⁶² Sunan Abu Dawood fi Natfish Shaib min kitaabit tarajjul, vol. 2, ⁶³ Bihaar Shariat, vol. 16, p. 193)

⁶⁴ Narrated by Bukhari, Muslim, Abu Dawood from Abu Hurairah

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa &B

15. If a husband does not like the fragrance of henna linetead she also henna the wife should not use henna. Instead she should use something the smell of which appeals to her husband A woman once asked Hadhrat Aisha in regarding henna. She replied: "There is no problem with it. I do not like it because my beloved, Nabi 業, disliked its fragrance. (Abu Dawood, Nasai, Taisirul Wusool, vol. 2, p. 137)

16. Any colour dye may be used except black. At the conquest of Makkah, the father of Abu Bakr &, Abu Qahafah &, was brought in the presence of Nabi & The hair of his head and beard were white like the colour of Thugamah (a type of tree whose flowers are white). Rasulullaah 紫 said: "Change this hair (i.e. dye it) but abstain from black (i.e. do not dye it black). 85

17. It is not permissible to use black dye. Rasulullaah  said: "Towards the end of time some people will use black dye, like the stomach of a dove. They will not smell the fragrance of Jannah."66 Imam Ahmad رمه له has taken an oath and regarded it as detested (Makrooh). It is stated in Mughni:

11

According to the Hanafi School, the majority of scholars regard it as detested (Makrooh). Imam Abu Yusuf says it is acceptable for reasons of beauty. However, precaution would demand that it not be used. 67

18. Red dye is preferred according to all the scholars. Besides black dye (black like the colour of hair) every other colour dye is permissible. The colour similar to black is also permissible, provided it is not like the colour of black hair. All these colours are acceptable since the whiteness of the hair can be noticed when these are applied.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa AMB Regarding black dye, a narration in Ibn Majah, may cause Regarding black uye, a Harradium in ibin ivrajan, may cause a bound of this reason, it is necessary to explain this a barrade.

narration. Haurirat Surratio as marrates.

Rasulullaah & said (indicating to a person whose hair was Resulularing a person whose hair was open on a person whose hair was open of the lack dye is the best because it inclines your wives towards you and it preales fear in the hearts of your enemies. "68 This Hadith is weak since two narrators in the chain prevent it from reaching the status of a Sahih Hadith. Further, it does not contradict the Sahih Ahadeeth because this narration refers to that dye which was popular amongst the companions of Nabi 紫 at the time, le. Wasmah and Katm. These are not totally black but smilar to black. This off black is permissible and the use of this can be proven from the lives of the companions of the Nabi &. The use of complete black dye is not proven from the companions of the Nabi 粪.69

Note:

1. The hair on the edges of the moustache also falls within the ambit of the moustache and the same laws apply to it. However, if one desires to keep this hair it is acceptable. Our predecessors, especially Hadhrat

There is no problem in keeping the two edges of the moustache. Muhaddith Dehlawi, in the commentary of Mishkaat, has written that there is no problem with this. The reason is that this hair does not block the mouth nor

⁶⁵ Reference above

⁶⁶ Ibid (same reference as above).

⁶⁷ Imdaadul Fataawa, vol. 4, p. 203

a lbn Majah in his 'Chapter on Dying in Black'.

has explained this in Imdaadul Fataawa ومعلم المساورة ال

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa

Imam Ghazali رحمه الله has written:

"There is no problem in keeping the hair on either sides of the moustache. Hadhrat Umar and others kept it.(Ihyaa Uloomud-Din)

1. Before the beard begins to grow (in young age), the hair in front of the ears is included in the hair of the head. It is permissible to cut this hair with a scissors. (Imdaad, vol. 4, p. 213)

2. Regarding the hair of the throat Alaamah Shaami الله has written :

"The hair on the throat should not be cut."70

The very same thing is recorded in Aalamgiri. This is the verdict of Imam Abu Hanifa رحمه الله. Imam Abu Yusuf has said that there is no problem in shaving it.71

3. If the beard is thin, i.e. the skin can be seen through the hair, then it is obligatory (Fardh) for water to reach the roots of the hair while making wudhu. If the beard is thick, i.e. the skin cannot be seen through the hair, then it is obligatory (Fardh) to wash the hair which is within the circumference of the face (hair which if pulled downwards does not reach further than the circumference of the face). It is obligatory (Fardh) to wash this hair or that part of the face in which the hair would remain within the circumference of the face. It is recommended (Sunnah) to pass a wet hand (masah) over that portion of the beard which hangs down and is beyond the circumference of the face. 72

Thus, the hair that grows below the chin is not obligatory (Fardh) to wash because it grows outside the circumference of the face. However, it is obligatory

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (KE) (Farch) to wash the hair on the cheeks and jaws, Fardh) to wash the circumference of the face. which are within the circumference of the face.

Which are within the circumference of the face.

Waajib)

If the beard is thick then Khilal is compulsory

Church and recommended (Suppose) in March 1997. If the beard is unlock upon reminer is continuously (waagib) in Ghusal and recommended (Sunnah) in Wudhu. This in Grusal and recommended (Surman) in Wt. is, however, not done while one is in Ihraam. is nowever, nocuone write one is in irradin.

Whilal means to pass a wet hand from beneath the beard unrough ו says that it is recommended says that it is recommended Sunnah) to make Khilal in Wudhu. According to Imam Sunnan) to make right of this is this is المجادة الله Hanifa and Imam Muhammed وهمه الله المجادة المج pelerred. | brahim Halbi حمه الله says that : There is proof to show that the verdict of Imam Abu Yusuf is preferred. Thus, his is the accepted one." (Sharh Hadhrat Anas ቈ states that when Nabi 紫 made wudhu, after washing the face three times, he used to take water In his palm and insert it at the bottom of his chin. With this he made khilal of his beard, saying : "Allaah 🍇 has commanded me do this." (Rawahu Abu Dawood, Bazl, vol.

A person once saw Hadhrat Ammaar Ibn Yaasir making khilal of his beard and asked him why he did this. He replied: "Why should I not do so when I saw Nabi 鑑 doing

In Ghusl it is compulsory because it has been stated in a Hadith: "The effect of impurity is found beneath every hair. Thus, wet the hair and clean the skin." (Bazl, vol. 1, p. 87) Note: Khilal should be done with one hand. However, if it is done with two hands, this is also acceptable.

Note:

The space between the ear and the line of hair which is part of the beard (the hair below the sideburns), which is

⁷⁰ Radd ul-Mukhtaar, vol. 5, p. 401, Khatr Wa Ibahah, Fasl Bai

⁷¹ Aalamgiri, vol. 5, p. 359

⁷² Imdaadul; Fataawa, vol. 1, p. 5-6

Narrated by Tirmidhi and Humaidi, vol. 1, p. 81, Imam Ahmad has commented on this Hadith in his Musnad (vol. 1, p. 83)

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa

free of hair, is obligatory (Fardh) to wash, as well. People are often negligent of this. 74

A few more recommended acts (Sunnats) of the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام

Actions which conform to human nature are not only ten Sheikh Abu Bakr Ibn al-Arabi Maliki رحمه الله is of the opinion that there are thirty things which are part of human nature. 75 Ten of these have already been dealt with. Two more of these need to be mentioned since life in today's times demands this.

11. Circumcision

In Abu Dawood the narration of Ammaar Ibn Yaasir has been mentioned wherein it is stated that circumcision is also a demand of nature.76 Similarly, it has been enumerated in the demands of nature in the narration of Abu Hurairah &. 77

Meaning of circumcision

Circumcision is defined as follows: "To cut that skin which covers the gland of the male private part."

Rules of circumcision

has رحمه الله From amongst the jurists of Islaam Imam Shafi رحمه الله has regarded circumcision as compulsory (Waajib). In one narration Imam Abu Hanifa رحمه الله has also been quoted to have said that it is compulsory (Waajib). However, the correct view of Imam Abu Hanifa رحمه الله is that it is highly recommended (Sunnate Mu'akkada) and a sign of Islaam.

74 Durr Mukhtaar

⁷⁵ Fathul Bari, vol 10, p. 283

⁷⁶ Bazlul Majhood, vol. 1, p. 34

77 Narrated by Jamaat, also by Bayhaqi in his Chapter of Clothing.

AMUSIM and a non-Muslim are distinguished because of Industrial and a non-refusion are distinguished because of nature. There is no scope This is why tris a demand of nature. There is no scope of the second of bollectively omit it. Azadan for Fardn Salaah is, similarly, Mu'akkada), but, being a Mu'akkada), but, being a Mu'akkada), but, being a ngh) recommended Courtrate Tyru arkada), but, being a support slaam it is not permissible to omit it on a collective ر حمه الله jan Hajar Askalaani المرحمة الله in Fathul Baari (vol. 10, Half Ibh Halfar Ashraidann (VOI. LU, 287), has explained the proofs in detail as to why it is (Waajib). However, the correct verdict waajio, ارحمه الله yeralict veralict v educt of it being compulsory (Waajib) are not complete. from the Hadith of 'natural habits' it would seem more appropriate to regard it as recommended (Sunnah).

Rulings (Masaa'il)

 $_{\mbox{$\rm 1.1$ tis}}$ preferred to cut the skin from the point where the root of the gland begins.

- 2. If circumcision was done but not completely then a comparison should be made to the amount of skin that was supposed to be cut. If more than half of the amount was cut then it is not necessary to repeat it. It half or less of the skin was cut then it is necessary to
- 3. If circumcision was done but the skin grew again and covered the gland then it is necessary to repeat it. However, if it has not grown that much then it not necessary to repeat it. (Aalamgiri)
- 4. There is no need to circumcise a child that was born with an open gland, i.e. with no skin covering it (as if the child was already circumcised) and the skin is so small that it cannot be cut or it is difficult to cut. Note that this happens very rarely. Usually only a portion of the gland is open. Circumcision for such a child is

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Amblyas and

- 5. A person accepted Islaam during old age or a hoy reached puberly but was not circumcised due to some reason. If a competent Muslim doctor says that he will not be able to endure the circumcision due to old age or weakness and there is fear of harm occurring then circumcision should not be done.
- 6. There is no specific age or time at which circumcision should take place. The jurists do not agree on any one time and it is not possible to stipulate a time that conforms to all these different views. When Imam Abu Hanifa was was asked regarding this he replied that he had no knowledge regarding it. Imam Muhammad and Imam Yusuf was have not been reported to have mentioned anything either. (Durr Mukhtar)

However, two points are important. Firstly, circumcision should be done before puberty. Secondly, the child should have the strength to endure the circumcision.

Note: It is very useful if the circumcision is carried out soon after birth because as time goes the skin becomes firmer and more difficult to cut. It should, therefore, not be delayed.

in a weak narration Hadhrat Ibn Abbaas & is narrated to have said that to do the circumcision on the seventh day is recommended (Sunnah). In another narration it is mentioned that Nabi # had the circumcision of Hadhrat Hasan & and Hadhrat Husayn & done on the seventh day.

when imam Malik was asked about this Hadith he replied: "I do not know anything about it." He, however, also added that circumcision contributes to purily and the sooner it is done the better, imam has stated that it is preferred to have it done on the seventh day."

menal, but ghareelb Hadith states, that Nabi's & menal, but ghareelb Hadith scircumcision done in the sententh day and had him named Muhammad. The medicines and medicines and medicines and medicines and medicines and the sophisticated medicines and medicines and the sophisticated to do it when the child is menal, this, therefore, better to do it when the child is menal, the wound heals quickly. When the child sentent and the wound medical and the wound to care for it and the wound means of the state of terelical of females is not recommended to the common of the common

there is no real problem if a few people are invited to the coursion of a boy. In the case of a girl this is not permissible. In Musnad Ahmad Ibn Hanbal there is a narration that Hadhrat Uthman ibn Abi al-Aas [] was not invited to the circumcision of a child. He refused sping: "We never went to a circumcision during the letime of Nabi ." Abu Sheikh added that this was regarding the circumcision of a female. (Fathul Baari, vol. 10, p. 289) loon, however, elaborate arrangements and personal mitations are used to gather people. This is contrary to the recommended verdict (Sunnah). (Islaahur Rusoom, p. 27) On the occasion of circumcision mitation cards, meals, music, dancing and other futile admits are present. These are contrary to the spirit is islaahur Rusoom)

Fathul Ban, vol. 10, p. 289, Nailul Awthor (vol. 1, p. 286)

Maint Maint vol. 1, p. 20. The correct view regarding Nabi %

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa

12. Parting the Hair

In the narration of Hadhrat Ibn Abbaas & parting of the hair is also regarded as part of the demands of nature, (Bazl, vol. 1, p. 34) In the early days of Islaam, Nabi's # habit was not to part his hair, conforming to the ways of the People of the Book (Ahle Kitaab). Later, by divine instruction, he began parting his hair. However, he never stressed upon this. Hind ibn Abi Haala & narrates:

"If the hair could be parted easily he did it. If it could not be done easily or if a comb, etc was needed he delayed parting the hair to a later time when a comb, etc was available." (Khasaaíl Nabawi, p. 10)

In any case to part the hair is preferred (Mustahab). (Fathul Baari, vol. 10, p. 305) Nabi 紫 used to part his hair in line with his nose. Today, the fashions of parting the hair to the left and right are not Islaamic. Females should also part their hair at the middle of the head.

Regulations regarding the hair

Islaam has given very specific rules regarding cutting of the hair.

Rules (Masaa'il)

- 1. It is recommended (Sunnah) to keep hair as long as the earlobe or a little below it. If the hair is shaved then to shave the entire head is recommended (Sunnah). It is also acceptable to cut all the hair to one length.
- 2. It is permissible to cut all the hair with a scissors or a
- 3. If the hair is very long then it is not permissible to knot it at the back like the females do. However, it is permissible to make the hair into two or three parts without parting it, but simply coiling it round so that it does not become dishevelled. This is proven from Nabi 紫. Hadhrat Umme Haani رحمه الله said: "Nabi 紫 came to Me Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa WE Makkah once after Hijrat. His hair at the time was Makkan university (Shamaail Tirmidhi) divided into rour pilates (Sharifaci Tifffilutit) معد الله has has Moulana Muhammad Zakariyya ما المطالعة الم mentioned regarding transferred to make plaits like women is detested For men women to those that do Makroully rights of women because Nabi himself forbade men imitating women. (Khasaail Nadawi, p. 201 It should at all times be noted that there should be no mitation of women. Imam Abu Dawood رحمه الله has narrated from Abu Hurairah 拳 that Nabi 紫 has cursed that man who wears women's clothing and that woman who wears men's clothing. Imam Abu Dawood رحمه الله himself narrates that Hadhrat Aisha أرحمه الله was once asked about a woman who wore men's shoes. She replied: "Nabi 紫 has cursed women who imitate men. (i.e. women should not wear men's shoes). In other words, all those things that distinguish one gender from the other should not be adopted by the opposite gender because Allaah 🐉 has created each gender with qualities that are appropriate to that gender. For example, the beard is a masculine characteristic whereas flattery is a feminine quality. Beauty and adomment are found naturally in both genders. Shariat dislikes that a gender develops the opposite quality, hence, a person who begins to imitate a quality of the opposite gender has been cursed. (Hujjatulah Al-Baalighah, vol. 2, p. 533) Thus, for a female to cut her hair, to wear men's clothes and shoes or to walk like a man is not permissible. Similarly, the beard is a characteristic of a man and to shave it makes one worthy of the curse of

- The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 凝 4. For a female to shave her head or to cut her hair is prohibited and this makes her worthy of the curse of Nabi 鬓. As a cure to a disease it will be permissible for her to shave her hair. A woman with vertigo, for
- example, who is forced to shave her hair, may do so. 5. An old woman who has no need to beautify herself may trim her hair slightly. Similarly, a young girl who cannot maintain her hair or keep it clean may shorten it. The actions of the Ummahaatul Mumineen (the wives of Nabi 紫 were based upon this principle).

It is important not to forget that this permission is only for the above reasons. Cutting the hair in order to follow the fashion trends is definitely not permissible for women or young girls. Allaah 溪 certainly knows the secrets of the

- 6. To cut the hair of the nape is not permissible. The jurists have regarded it as detested (Makrooh). (Safaai Muaamalaat). It is, however, permissible to cut the hair of the neck: The hair below the earlobe is regarded as part of the neck and the hair above the earlobe is regarded as part of the nape. Another method of determining this is that the hair that is usually present on a one or two year old child is regarded as the nape. As the child grows up, the hair that appears lower is regarded as the hair of the neck. While it is permissible to cut the hair of the neck, cutting the hair of the nape is detested (Makrooh). Thus, the hair below the earlobe should be cut but not the hair above it.
- 7. The many different types of hairstyles that ape Western fashion are contrary to Islaam. These should be avoided. Even though these styles do not specifically fall in the category of قزع (cutting the hair unevenly) and cannot, thus, be forbidden (Haraam), but, they

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮 are most certainly disliked (Makrooh). (Marginal notes of Beninsu Zewai, strong of the hair in such a way that the centre of the head is clean because Nabi $ forbade cutting the hair in such a way that part is cut and part of the A Hadith in Muslim states that Nabi 霧 once saw a child whose hair was cut in some places and left in others. He forbade this saying: "Either cut it completely or leave it completely." (Mishkaat, p. 324) Some people leave a line of hair on the forehead and make sharp edges on either side of the head. This is

4 A man who plaits his long hair to perform Salaah will render his Salaah detested (Makrooh). Rasulullaah & said: "I have been commanded to prostrate (make Saidah) with seven parts of my body only and not to hold my hair and clothing." (Abu Dawood and Bazl, vol. 2. p. 84)

Once Hadhrat Hasan 🕸 was performing Salaah with his hair tied. Hadhrat Abu Raafi 🐇 upon seeing him loosened his hair while he was still in Salaah. After completing his Salaah Hadhrat Hasan & asked why he had done so. He replied: "It is forbidden to tie the hair in this way and perform Salaah." (Al Minhal Vol.5

10.The command not to tie the hair in Salaah is exclusively for men. For females it is preferred that they tie their hair and perform Salaah so that there is no fear of the hair opening up. If one quarter of a Moman's hair opens up during Salaah and remains Open for a full duration of one posture (i.e. the time it lakes to say Subhaanallah three times) then her Salaah is null and void. This command discouraging men from tying their hair and performing Salaah has been mentioned in the Hadith (Ibn Majah, Tabraani, 11. To a certain extent it is permissible to cut and neaten the eyebrows. (Shaami Vol.5 Pg.358, Aalamgeeri

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🞘

12. It is permissible to cut the hair on the ears. It has been narrated that Nabi 業 used a hair removing ointment on his body. (Nailul Awthor, vol. 1, p. 125)

Moulana Rashid Ahmad Gangohi محمه الله has proven from this the permissibility of removing hair from the chest and calf (Fataawa Rashidiya) The hair of the ears is also of this type and can, thus, be removed. Allaah & knows best.

The Beard and natural habits

The title of this book was chosen as "the beard and Sunnats of the Ambiyaa" because we discussed the issues regarding natural habits that appear in the Hadith. The title has another dimension also. Nowadays, Islaam is regarded as so unimportant and trivial that whatever comes to the mouth is reviewed and then ignored. The beard is one such thing. People make a host of remarks regarding it. They are, in reality, forced by their disposition. By allowing their environments and the evil temptations of the day to affect their lifestyles they are forced to pass certain remarks regarding the beard. The answers to their remarks are presented so that they may turn back towards the demands of human nature and they may be fortunate again to return to the straight path.

1. Following the customs of the time

Some say that Nabi 紫 kept a beard due to the custom of his people. As the fashion of today is to shave the beard the keeping of a beard is a deformity.

My dear friends, this is not correct. The beard was common amongst the Arabs because it was one of those

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa Ambiyaa that had been retained from the Deen of Hadhrat that had been to Hadnrat the been of Hadnrat ka'bah been was keep broating by the been of Hadnrat ka'bah policinum vision were practiced by them to some extent. Redullillah # did not keep a beard because of the ostom of the time but because it was a recommended at (Sunnah) of the Deen of Hadhrat Ibraheem see which at louininued. Therefore, Allaah 霧 commanded Nabi 霧 to leep the beard. The following Hadith is narrated in

MAllaah % commanded me to lengthen my beard and mm my moustache." Anaration of Ibn Umar appears in Sahih Muslim: "Nabi 紫 mmanded that moustaches be trimmed and beards be lengthened."

The first Hadith proves clearly that Nabi 🗯 was commanded by Allaah sig to lengthen the beard and cut the moustache. From the second Hadith we learn that we have been commanded by Nabi # regarding these two ats. How strange that you can still say that Nabi 紫 kept a teard due to the custom of the times? (Daari ki Qadar wa Qimat, p. 37) hany case, Islaam does not aim to follow foreign customs the abolish them. If Islaam will simply move with the fow of customs and the 'idol maker' becomes the 'idoltreaker, then the 'Quo Vadis'(where are we going?)

The net result according to your deduction is that a rophet follows the custom of his nation when he appears. then he leaves the world he makes custom his successor and Salys to his people: "As the custom changes with time should you." It is almost as if the entire Shariat, stooding to you, it is almost as in the stooding to you, is summarised in one phrase: Following

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🞘

2. External Appearance

Some people attempt to prove from the words of some pious person that external appearance is not important. In reality they misunderstand the meaning of his words. His words actually mean that one should remain within the bounds of Islaam but eat, drink, dress and perform good deeds. In other words, Islaam has not divorced men from the world or encouraged monasticism. Islaam has explicitly

"Monasticism is not permissible in Islaam."80 Allaah ﷺ has mentioned in the Quran:

"Say: Has anyone prohibited the beauties and pure sustenance which Allaah 3 has created for His servants?" Nobody has done so. Instead, man should extract benefit from the bounties of Allaah &, but should never forget that he has been created for the worship of Allaah &. Allaah i has mentioned:

"I have created men and jinn for worship only."

Thus, to deduce that Islaam has not given any guidelines regarding external appearance is incorrect. If a rebel says to his king that he obeys him fully with his heart and soul but his external appearance he does not consider as important, will the king accept his excuse? If a person comes to sit in a gathering with his clothing soiled with urine and feaces and after being ordered to wash and change his clothing exclaims that his internal is pure and there is no need for external purity, can such an excuse ever be tolerated? If these excuses are not acceptable (and they certainly are not!) then how can the Custodian of the Shariat accept it? (Imdaad, vol. 4, p. 212)

3. No Internal without the External

Some people say: "Why worry about the external? Internal reformation is sufficient." Even a poet has exclaimed:

⁸⁰ Ibn Hajar has discussed this Hadith in Fathul Baari (vol. 9, p. 96)

The Board and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 36211 Onan of heart, external beauty is little sought after.

Onan of meant, external beauty is intile sought after for beauty, Powers and aroma or a garden is sufficient for beauty, the need for decorating the wall of the garden?

Answer.

The words are true but the interpretation has been the words are true but the interpretation has been The words are true but the interpretation has been also no need to decorate the wall, but there of the wall itself. If there was no wall then how smilarly, the beard and all the other symbols of Islaam muld the garden remain protected!

ge walls' protecting a believer's Islaamic identity. gam has actually prohibited external adornment. In the Hadith, Nabi 叢 prohibited combing of the hair daily but groundged that it be done occasionally. (Shamaíl)

The meaning of this Hadith, as explained by the scholars, s that a believer should not devote all his energies to decorating and beautification. This should be done according to need and necessity

The beard is not like decorating the wall of the garden, it is the wall itself. Without it the identity of a Muslim is difficult to maintain.

4. Can bearded men deceive?

Some people claim that "bearded people deceive and create a powerful external form to mislead others."

lis clear that your hearts and tongues acknowledge that be beard is a powerful tool. Just like fasting, Salaah and sometimes deceive people, they are deceived by the teard also. But, what fault is this of the beard? A person who deceives has a flaw in his character. After shaving his nthe time of Nabi 缓 there were also hypocrites who used Odeceive the Muslims. Their deception and trickery does In make Muslims deceivers and hypocrites. It can rather be said that some hypocrites actually become Muslims. Smilarly, it cannot be said that bearded people are العدم المسلام in the المسلام and المسلام in the Same War as Well (May Allaah se save us!). It can be concluded that some people who deceive do have beards. However, a good thing will remain good even though it may come into the possession of an evil person. A request to our critics: These people are deceivers, but you are pure, with the grace of Allaah ₹. Do not be deceived and fall prey to their trickery. Do not criticize the beard, unthinkingly. Instead make dua that by imitating the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام, Allaah ﷺ may grant these Muslims sincerity and they may leave their deception. 81

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 😣

5. The Middle Path

Some people may be of the opinion that by keeping a beard the Islaamic face resembles the face of people of those nations who regard the lengthening of the beard and moustache as necessary, e.g. the Sikhs, Jews, etc. For this reason, the Shariat has stipulated that the moustaches be cut because these people regard lengthening of the beard and the moustache as necessary. Thus, the Hadith commanding that moustaches be cut is side by side with the command to lengthen the beard. In this way, the face of a Muslim remains distinct from that of a non-Muslim, even though another nation may be taught to cut the moustache if it grows long, e.g. the Jews and Casts. For this reason the Shariat has preferred that the beard should be cut if it exceeds a fist in length. In this way the Muslim face is still distinct because neatening the beard by cutting that which exceeds a fist in length is not to be found amongst other nations.

Hadhrat Abdullah Ibn Umar Ibn Al-Aas & states: "Nabi # used to neaten his beard vertically and horizontally." These specifications of the beard steer it way from resembling that of other nation's towards that of the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام. It, further, distinguishes the face of a Muslim from that of a non-Muslim.82

81 Daari ki Qadar wa Qimat

82 At-tashabbuh fil Islaam

w Beelfd and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 漫画

6. One Who imitates a Nation is One of them Mullim desires to make his face like that of a 13 MON MOSITIFI UPSITES TO THANK THIS TACK TIKE THAT OF A A SHARING THIS TACK TIKE THAT OF A A SHARING THE ISLAMIC by adopting the Islaamic teachings. He is, by adulphing the research teachings. He is, opposing his own system and displaying love for the opposing his own system and displaying love for the opposing his own system. There is no reason for the opposing his own system. The proposition of the propositi as he himself resembles us. This will not be nostion to him but opposition to our very own symbols

7. The True standard

grie people say that the Turks, Egyptians and Arab lights shave their beards. Our dear critics! Why have whade them the standard and their actions a proof of methess. The standard of truth is the Quran, the the actions of Nabi 紫 his companions. In a hadith is mentioned: "Only such a person will be saved who thous the path upon which I am and upon which my firm this Hadith the term 'Sunnah Wal Jamaat' was med. The 'path of Nabi 囊' is summarised as "Sunnah" nd the path of my companions' is summarised as amaat. These two paths are in fact one and a person to treads this path is a member of the "Sunnah wal mad. In any case, do not weigh the issue of the beard m the scale of the Egyptians and Turks but the scale of han, the lifestyle (Sunnah) of Nabi 紫 and the actions of he companions of the Nabi 紫.

The wisdom of 'opposing the polytheists'

Sing people claim that their aim in shaving their beards oppose the polytheists of the age who lengthen their Sands, They base their claim upon the Hadith ordering us oppose the polytheists. This is incorrect. A reason that accompanies any command of Shariat is either the illat (first cause) or a benefit hikmat (wisdom). If it is an illat (first cause) the command depends upon whether the illat (first cause) is found or not, whereas if it is a hikmat (wisdom) the command does not depend upon the hikmat (wisdom). In other words, the command will not change if the hikmat (wisdom) changes. To understand this difference is the task of those who are experts in this science. In the Hadith 'opposing the polytheists' is mentioned as a hikmat (wisdom) and not as an illat (first

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 😣

The reason for shaving the beard being prohibited is that it brings about mutilation of the appearance. It is not prohibited for the reason of opposition to the polytheists. Proof of this is that in some Ahadeeth the command has come without any confinement.

An example of this is if a ruler tells his subjects: "Obey the law! Do not cause havoc like the other nation." Now, if the other nation perchance stops causing havoc should the subjects still oppose them as the original command was to

In any case, even if it is hypothetically accepted that the hikmat (wisdom) of keeping the beard is no longer present (it is present to a larger extent, nowadays!) the command will still remain. This is because the command still remains even if the hikmat (wisdom) is no longer present as the hikmat (wisdom) is not a true illat (first cause). A command will be abolished only if the true illat (first cause) is no longer found.

An example of this is the 'ramal' during Tawaaf of the Ka'bah. It originated because of the non-Muslims who were standing on the mountain in order to observe the weakness of the Muslims. Today, there is not even one non-Muslim present there, however, the ramal is still a command. For this reason Hadhrat Umar & once me speed and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (SEE) *For whatever reason ramal was originally was originally we will continue with it because we regard it as of the lifestyle (Sunnah) of Nabi 粪."

Following Rasulullaah

wowing Nabi 義 is the essence of Islaam. Whether other advantages remain or not following the lifestyle (mah) of Nabi 觜 is the greatest benefit and advantage. s not acceptable for Muslims to leave the ambit of mohetic teachings. Unaid Ibn Khalid & says: "Once I was passing through Madinah when I heard someone exclaiming from behind me: 'Raise your loincloth as this is a protection from external and internal impurity (pride) and it prevents the cloth from tearing.' I turned around and saw that it was Nabi 紫. I asked: 'This is a simple piece of cloth (What pride can there be in it and why should it be protected?)'.

Nabl # answered: 'If you see no benefit in raising it, you will still be following my lifestyle (Sunnah).' Upon this I looked at the loincloth of Nabi 幾. It was until the middle of his calf."85

Ponder over this Hadith. Even though there was no mde Nabi 觜 commanded that his loincloth be raised wh the intention of following the lifestyle of Nabi \slash Should this not be the case with the beard

An Englishman once became Muslim after studying saam and immediately stopped shaving his beard. Some people told him: "The beard is not a compulsory omponent of Islaam. You have stopped shaving the

The convert Muslim answered: "I do not understand what is compulsory and what is not compulsory. All I

Sensal Tirmidhi, Chapter on the lower garment of Nabi 🛣

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🚓

know is that our Prophet 紫 commanded us to keep a beard and since I have accepted to follow him, his command has to be fulfilled. It is not the task of any subject to classify the commands of his superior as compulsory and not compulsory." This is the teaching of Islaam and the true meaning of obedience.

"Tell the people! If you love Allaah of then follow me. Allaah 🗱 will in return love you and forgive your sins. Allaah is Most Forgiving and Most Merciful." (Surah Aal Imraan)

Thus, those who turn away from the obedience of Nabi 囊 and at the same time claim to love Allaah, is their claim of Islaam is only lip service.

9. Can we profess to love someone when we show love for another?

Some people accept every proof for keeping the beard but their wives dislike the beard. The wife dislikes having a bearded husband. As long as the husband wants to please his wife he cannot keep a beard. The simple answer to this is that such a husband should become a true man or make dua that Allaah is grants his wife guidance.

10. Do you really need someone like that?

Some unmarried men say that keeping a beard will make it difficult to marry, make it impossible to find a modern wife or find a wife of choice.

In answer to them it is to be noted that the first reason is false. Females are not only married to clean-shaven men. Bearded men also have wives. If one female says 'no' another can still be found.

The second excuse you present is correct but why do you want to marry such a modern woman? In a Hadith it has been mentioned:

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (%) A woman is married for four things: her wealth, her status and lineage, her beauty or her spirituality. Become and imeage, not beauty of the spirituality. Become successful in seeking a pious woman. Goodness be your

The world in totality is composed of a number of beneficial things. From amongst all the beneficial things of the world a pious woman is the best." (Muslim) Thus, why do you not search for a pious woman? Regarding your third excuse, if such is the woman of your choice she will never be a benefit to you. She can only be a benefit to you when she desires you as well. If her desire for you is lost due to your beard then her desire is not sincere and an insincere woman is a curse. May Allaah 😹 save all people from the evil of such women.

11. Yet Another Excuse

The final excuse usually made by men who shave is that a bearded man is ridiculed and cursed by those who are close to him. This is true but not exclusive to the beard. A person who practices upon any recommended act (Sunnah) has to cope with this. For this reason in a Hadith it is mentioned:

A time will come when a person who remains firm upon his Deen will be like one who holds coal in his hands."86

The answer to this is you become a person who invites towards the lifestyle (Sunnah) of Nabi & Those of your close friends who mock you should be invited to the lifestyle (Sunnah) of Nabi 養. Present Islaam in a pleasant

One of the greatest benefits of inviting to the truth is that a person's faith and conviction becomes stronger. If your friends are convinced by you and become devoted Sevants of Islaam then you reward is greater than 'red camels. If they do not accept your message your reward for giving the invitation is not lost. If they sever ties with you then you have been saved from the evil shadow of the

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕬

It should also be remembered that in our present times for a person who is attached to the Western way of life to keep a beard is not only fulfilment of a command of Nabi 素 but a form of jihad as well. Hadhrat Abu Hurairah &

"Nabi 囊 said: 'A person who holds onto my lifestyle (Sunnah) at a time when there will be chaos in my nation will get the reward of a hundred martyrs.' "(Mishkaat) It should not be surprising that together with the reward for jihad a person may also get the reward for Hijrah (migration) since a Hadith mentions:

"A person who migrates (Muhajir) is one who leaves forbidden things."

Reward of this nature is because such a person has to strive against those of his habits and actions which have been moulded into his character due to years of training and exposure to wrong. When a person transcends this stage of his life and begins keeping a beard his environment will resist it. People will mock at him saying: "Why has such a change overtaken you?" His seniors, friends and associates mock at him. He is ridiculed and his value in the marriage market decreases. The entire anti-Islaamic environment with it's full power attempts to wage a war with him.

A person cannot fight such a war who is not strong and who does not have strong faith. His courage, however, benefits him in two ways:

- a. His resistance to an anti-Islaamic system creates in him strength to fight other battles as well.
- b. The awe of his character begins to dominate his environment. His call to the truth becomes so weighty that people begin to come closer to Islaam. He becomes the source of attracting towards perfection.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa (%) perfection is of two types: Firstly, perfection of knowledge perfection is or two types. Firstly, perfection of knowledge and secondly, perfection of deeds. The Quran praises four and secondly, periecular of deeds. The Quran praises Tour the Ambiyaa, the truthful, the groups of people (viz. the Ambiyaa, the truthful, the groups of people (viz. the Arribiyad, the dutility, and the pious). The first two of these have been praised due to their perfection in knowledge. The last two praised due to their perfection of deeds. عليهم السلام Taye been praised and to an another difference is to be noted. The Ambiyaa عليهم السلام A furnier universities to the fountains that display perfect knowledge. The truthful are a combination of this knowledge and this perfection is built in them. Similarly, the martyrs are the source of perfection in deeds. The pious are a reflection of this perfection of deeds. A martyr is in fact such a person who encourages to the good and forbids evil to such an extent that his last drop of blood is shed in this path. On the day of Qiyamah it will testify as to who accepted his encouragement towards good (the pious) and who did not accept it. Anyhow, within an anti-Islaamic Western environment at a time when the Muslim nation is in difficulty, holding firmly onto the recommended act (Sunnah) of the beard is to fight against the self - a form of jihad. The extent to which people are attracted to the symbols of Islaam due to his perseverance will be recorded in his book of deeds.

Internal Purification

This strength cannot be achieved without first reforming the internal self. When the roots of Islaam are firmly entrenched in the heart then will it be possible for the teachings of Islaam to be adopted completely. For this reason, it is necessary to first purify the internal self. If effort is not made to reform the internal self but effort is made to only fulfil laws and regulations then total success

There is a group of people whose internal is pure and illuminating with the light of Islaam but due to lack of knowledge, ignorance, misfortune or exposure to an environment they show no importance to this symbol of

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa REI

Islaam. Our message is to them, specifically, so that they

Illat and Hikm

The excuses of people have been answered. Now, an intellectual doubt will be clarified. We have discussed in passing what the illat (first cause) and hikmat (wisdom) of the beard is. This is necessary because a command hinges upon the presence and absence of the illat (first cause). A hikmat (wisdom) is not so. Whether the hikmat (wisdom) is present or not does not affect the command. Let us know explain the hikmat (wisdom) and then the illat

The hikmat (wisdom) of cutting the moustache and lengthening the beard

1. Opposing the polytheists, Fireworshippers, etc. Muslims are a unique nation. Their lifestyle, dressing, appearance, ways and actions are distinct. It is essential for the Muslims to be a complete portrait of Islaam. Their existence needs to be an embodiment of Islaam. In the words of the Quran they should be witnesses unto the rest of mankind. Allaah & mentions:

"And strive hard in Allaah's 3 cause as you ought to strive. He has chosen you (from all other nations) and has not laid upon you in Deen any hardship. Remain firm upon the Deen of your father, Ibrahim. It is he who has named you Muslims (obedient in every way) in the revealed books before the Quran and in the Quran so that the Messenger may be a witness over you and you be witnesses over mankind. So perform Salaah, give Zakaat and hold fast to Allaah 藻. He is your protector (He will not allow you to be harmed by the opposition or abuse of anybody). What an excellent

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 368 protector and what an excellent helper. (Surah Al-Hajj, Manauon.

Being a witness means to testify to all his claims with the heart, tongue, actions, internal, external, life, death and every deed. There should be no difference between the book of his life and the book of his

Nabl % fulfilled his responsibility of being a 'witness'. After him came the companions of the Nabi 3 and the entire Muslim nation bears testimony to the fact that they were 'invitors' and 'witnesses' to the rest of mankind in the most beautiful manner. Thereafter, the responsibility continued moving from generation to generation. Now, Muslims have to be 'invitors' and 'witnesses' because no Nabi 🕮 can come to do this task. This responsibility has been given to the Muslims until the day of Qiyamah.

Muslims can only be 'witnesses' of Islaam when there lifestyles and their claims conform in totality. This is when they are filled with the spirit of Islaam and when they do not resemble other world nations. If their external appearance begins to resemble others then their Deen will also begin to resemble the Deen of others. Islaam cannot simply be understood from books: Personalities need to demonstrate Islaam as 'witnesses'.

For this reason, the Muslims have been prevented from resembling other nations in every facet of their existence. Similar is the case of the beard.

Today, shaving the beard is not simply a by the way thing, It has become a special symbol of culture. The beard, therefore, is a direct statement declaring opposition to this culture and an acceptance to make

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa & May Allaah grant us the ability to fulfil this May Allaah grant us the ability to fulfil this responsibility. It is a responsibility that comes attached with accepting Islaam as a Deen.

12. Cleanliness during eating and drinking. Allamah Ibn Daqiqul Eid (Maaliki / Hambali) writes in Allaman Ibn Dayiyui Elu (Iviaaliki / nambali) writes in Ahkaamul Ahkaam, a commentary of Umdatul Ahkaam, while explaining a Hadith: "Cutting and trimming the moustache is done for two reasons. Firstly, to oppose the non-Muslims. This reason has been explicitly mentioned in one Hadith where it is stated: 'Oppose the Fireworshippers!' Secondly, removing it from the mouth area is very beneficial for reasons of cleanliness. It also protects from the harmful effects of food." (vol. 1, p. 85) Longer moustaches are smeared with food and become immersed in water when drinking. Thus, Shariat has commanded that they be shortened.

13. Beauty

Shortening the moustache and lengthening the beard

14. Not resembling women

It is forbidden for men to imitate women so that the distinctive qualities of each gender remain confined to the gender itself and do not become corrupted. Nabi **

"Allaah has cursed those men who imitate women and those women who imitate men."

15. Health reasons

It protects the chest and throat from the effects of hot and cold winds. Doctors have mentioned this benefit of the beard.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa AMB The fue illat (first cause) for lengthening the beard and The flue line to duser for lengthering the beard and uning the moustache is to meet the demands of the ruling the moustache is to meet the demands of the allow the hours availained proviously.

a Those specific and unique characteristics of man which conform to his natural disposition. b. By means of it every individual or nation is

ر Allaah has, by means of the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام, commanded the Muslim nation to adopt these qualities and remain unique from the rest of the

The Hadith of natural habits (fitrat) and it's commentary, as explained in Hadya Naazireen, has already been mentioned. The concise and penetrating explanation of Hadhrat Shah Waliyullah ارحمه الله in Hujjatullah Al-Baalighah, of this Hadith will, now, be presented in the words of Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Manzoor Nu'mani

These ten actions which, in fact, are related to the chapter of cleanliness have been relayed to us from the funder of the righteous nation ('Millat-e-Hanifiyah'), Hadhrat Ibraheem 2641. They, together with belief, were a common factor amongst all those righteous nations that followed the path of Hadhrat Ibraheem 🕮. Generation upon generation lived and died on these actions. This is why they are called natural habits (fitrat). They are the

Every nation has some unique symbols. These symbols are such that the nation is recognised by means of them. gnoing these symbols is punishable so that obedience and defiance of the teachings of the nation may be seen be effectively under control. Further, it is essential that these symbols should not be rare, that practical benefits should spring from them and that people should accept them. In the ten qualities, these points are found. To grasp this a number of things need to be considered. On the body of man there are some parts where hair growth displeases and is detestable to the conscience of a person who loves purity and has a sense of refinement. He dislikes it just like he dislikes impurity that comes out of the private parts. The hair beneath the arms and below the navel fall into this category. Thus, a person who is refined according to the demands of nature will perceive a sense of ease and vigour in his mind and soul when this hair is removed. This is the true demand of his inner self. Similar is the case of the nails.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa &

The beard distinguishes between old and young, it creates beauty and honour in a man, it completes his masculinity and it is a recommended act (Sunnah) of the Ambiyaa عليهم السلام. Thus, lengthening it is obligatory and shaving it is the practice of other nations like the Hindus, Fireworshippers and many other non-Muslims nations. In addition, since shaving is generally the practice of low people, a person who shaves is placing himself in their category.

The harm of a long moustache when it reaches till the mouth is that food and drink adheres to it. Mucous from the nose also passes by the same route. It is, therefore, the demand of purity that the moustache should not be kept too long. Thus, moustaches need to be cut, the nose should be cleaned by water, the tooth stick (miswaak) should be used, water should be used after answering the call of nature and joints where dirt collects should be cleansed. These are all necessities, which, from the point of view of purity, need no real explanation or clarification.

(Maáriful Hadith, vol. 3, p. 62) Every nation has to have distinctive symbols, without which the nation itself will cease to exist. Hindus regard the plaits of the hair and the janióo (sacred thread) as

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 海里 compulsory. Sikhs regard every hair of the body as an compulsory. Sikilis regard every mail of the body as an egsential part of the body. Pharsis have a unique type of essential part of the Gody. Pharsis have a unique type of hat. The English also have a unique hat and a necktie hat the English also have a unique hat and a neckure which is regarded as compulsory to preserve their English

In contrast, a nation which has not preserved its external dess, has not preserved it's identity.87 The Muslims will be around till Qiyamah and it is, therefore, essential that as many Muslims as possible preserve their identity. Can this be possible without preserving our symbols?

We seek the protection from displeasing Allaah and His Rasul

For a Muslim nothing can be worse than any of his words or deeds causing the displeasure of Allaah or giving difficulty to His Rasul 馨. If this does occur he is barred from the mercy of Allaah and deserving of a disgraceful punishment. Allaah states:

|Verily those who hurt Allaah and His Rasool 囊, Allaah curses them in this world and in the Aakhirah, and He has prepared a humiliating punishment for them." (Al-Ahzaab,

Hadhrat Thanwi رحمه الله has written that 'giving difficulty' to Allaah has been mentioned figuratively. From this statement of Hadhrat Thanwi ارجمه الله it is understood that both harming Nabi 筹 and displeasing him are intended in

Now consider how Nabi 霧 hates the base act of shaving the beard and how displeased and annoyed it makes him. When the king of Iran, Khosroe Perwez, received the letter of Nabi 美 via his messenger, Hadhrat Abdullah Ibn Hudhaafah he became angry and tore it up, Saying: "The lowest from my subjects writes to me and

For further information refer to "Daari ke Falsafa" by Hadhrat

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa &

Thereafter, he commanded Baazaan, his appointed to have the authority governor of Yemen who was regarded to have the authority of the entire Arabian Peninsula under him, to dispatch two strong men to imprison this claimant to Nabuwaat. Baazaan prepared a contingent whose leader was Kharkhasar. To get a better understanding of the state of Nabi 霧 he sent another regional commander by the name of Baanwiah, as well. When these two reached Nabi 業 the awe of his Risaalah made their veins throb. As these people were Persian Fireworshippers they were clean-shaven and their moustaches were long.

Upon seeing them, Nabi 紫 was annoyed and immediately asked them: "Who has commanded you to do this to your

They replied that their lord, Kisra (they referred to the king, Kisra, as lord). Nabi 紫 said:

"My Rabb has commanded me to lengthen the beard and shorten the moustache."88

The story is long but the lesson is that Nabi 霧 used to be naturally annoyed by even non-Muslims who appeared in that manner before him.

Consider the difficulty that is given to Nabi 紫 when he sees a person growing his beard after having had the habit of shaving for some years. Now, if Nabi 紫, having become accustomed to a beard, has a similar dislike in seeing a clean-shaven person, can anything prevent this? May Allaah save us from giving difficulty to Allaah and His Rasul ¾.

A small beard

Rasulullaah often used to apply oil to his head and neaten his beard by combing it. It is clear that a small beard cannot be combed nor is

In addition to this the Ahadeeth mentioned at the beginning of this book should be studied. It will be realized

88 Al Wafaa bi Ahwaalii Mustafaa, Ibn Jowzi, vol. 2, p. 733, Tabaqat Ibn Sa'd, vol. 1, Musannaf Ibn Abi Shaibah, Musnad Haarith Ibn Usama, Sirat Halbiyah.

Report and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa ne pearount in which opposition to the polytheists the hadeeth in which opposition to the polytheists that mount in which opposition to the polytheists that mount in which opposition to the polytheists. to the polytheists that moustaches the polytheists the polytheist the polytheists the polytheists the polytheists the polythei beel commanded also commands that moustaches (not to trim them).

The standard size of the standard st prompted and plearus we rest to grow (not to trim them).

Removed the impermissibility of keeping a small beard.

Ahadeeth where opposition as profes in those Ahadeeth where opposition to the syndry in those has been mentioned the syndry has been mentioned. man, in those produced where opposition to the command the command has been mentioned, the command follows the moustache and allows the moustache FRANCE TO THE HUUTIEU, THE COMMAND THE HUUTIEU, THE COMMAND THE HUUTIEU, THE COMMAND THE HUUTIEU, THE COMMAND THE appeals to time the moustable and allow the beard to the state of the The clear under a simal beard upes not permit it to go the impermissibility of large conditions are sensitive and the impermissibility of large conditions are sensitive as a condition of the impermission of leeping a small beard.

Freedom is an obstruction to Deen

lithat has been said it is a matter of experience tal indicates that freedom allows the adoption of tachions (no matter how evil they may be, logically or from areligious point of view) which are not easily cast aside. In ted, the free mind will prove it's standpoint so forcefully that all opposition to it collapses.

However, I advise my brothers that this freedom will become a curse for you. Tomorrow when time runs out for you then you will wail and howl. For a few seconds, separate yourself from your free thinking and consider your life.

Allaah has referred to the Muslims as the best of nations. No matter how great a sinner or transgressor a Muslim might be, he still has at least some love for Nabi 紫. There is always hope that a person will see the benefits and rabe of Islaam and the lifestyle of Nabi 義. There is always tope that Allaah will grant you the ability to practice upon

This is beneficial from both a personal as well as a tommunity point of view. Without obedience to Allaah and following the path of Nabi % and his companions & a scattered nation can never be united.

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa

Refernences

Quraan 2.

Daari ki Qadar wa Qimat, Moulana Aashiq Ilahi 3. Muslim Sharif, Imam Muslim Ibn Hajjaaj 4.

Qusheiri Nishaaburi (820-875)

At-Tashabbu Fil Islaam, Hadhrat Moulana 5. Al-Minhal Al-Uzb Al-Mowrud Fi Sharah Abi Dawood, Muhammad Ibn

al-Muhammad As-Subki(1274-1352, 1857-1933) 6. Al-Mahalli, Ali Ibn Ahmad Abu Muhammad Ibn Muhhamd Abu

Hazm Zaahiri (384-456, 994-1064) 7. Ashatul Lamáat, Abdul Haq Ibn Saifuddin Ad-

Dehlawi (958-1052, 1551-1642) 8.

Bawaadirin Nawadir, Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Ashraf Ali Thanwi (1280-1362) 9.

Behishti Zewar, Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Ashraf Ali Thanwi (1280-1362) 10.

Imdaadul Fatawa, Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Ashraf Ali Thanwi (1280-1362)

11. Safaai Muaamalaat, Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Ashraf Ali Thanwi (1280-1362)

12. At-Taraaif Waz-Zaraaif. Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Ashraf Ali Thanwi (1280-1362)

13. Islaahur Rusoom, Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Ashraf Ali Thanwi (1280-1362)

14. Bazlul Majhood fi Halli Abi Dawood, Hadhrat Moulana Khalil Ahmad Sahib Muhaddith Saharanpuri (1269-1346)

Ad-Durr Al-Mukhtaar, Muhammad Ibn Ali Alaaud 15. 1616-1277) Din Al-Haskafi (1025-1088, Radd al-Mukhtar, Muhammad Amin Ibn Umar

16. Abdul Aziz Aabideen (1198-1252, 1784-1836) Faizul Baari, Muhaddith Asr Moulana Muhammad

17. Anwar Shah Kashmiri (1292-1352)

Imala , (The original document on Sunan Abu Dawood by Allamah Kashmiri is in Jamiah 18. Husainiah, Rander) 80

The Beard and the Sunnats of the Ambiyaa 🕮

Hashiah Sindhi Bar Nisal, Muhammad Ibn Abdul Maa Laa Budda Minh, Qazi Thanaaullah Paanipati Hasman Smorth Day Wisser, Warland, 1726)

Fataawa Rahimiyah, Mufti Abdur Rahim Ibn Abdul

Karim Al Hasani Wal Husaini (1321, 1903) Nailul Awthor, Muhammad Ibn Ali Showkani

Al Qamoos, Muhammad Ibn Yakoob Fairozaabadi Abu Taahir Majdudin Shiraazi (729-817, 1329-

Dustoorul Ulama, Qazi Abdun Nabi Ibn Ghulaam Rasool Ahmad Nagri Burhaanpuri

At Tareefaat, Ali Ibn Muhammad Ibn Ali Sayyed Sharif Juriani (740-816, 1340-1413)

Lughaatul Quran, Sayyed Abdud Daim Jalaali

Mujamul Quran, Abdur Raoof Misri

Khasaail Nabawi, Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Zakariwa Saheb Kandehlawi

At Taleegus Sabeeh, Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Idrees Sahib Kandehlawi (1394)

Maánful Hadith, Hadhrat Moulana Muhammad Manzoor Sahib Nu'mani

31. Umdatul Qari, Muhammad Ibn Ahmad Badruddin Aini (762-855, 1361-1451)

Fataawa Darul Uloom, Hadhrat Moulana Azizur Rahman Sahib (1275-1347, 1928)

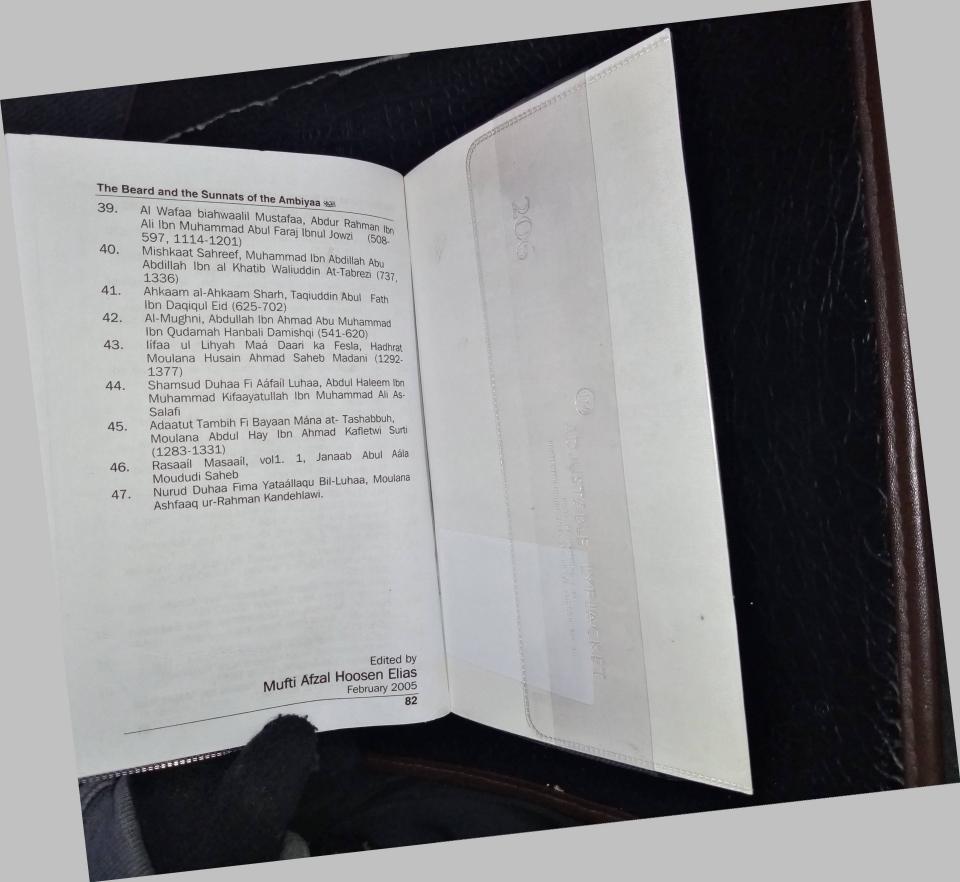

Fataawa Darul Uloom, Hadhrat Nufti Muhammad

Tirmidhi Sharif, Muhammad Ibn Isa Ibn Thowrah

Abu Dawood Sharif, Sulaiman Ibn Ashath Azdi Sajistani Imam Abu Dawood (202-275) Sajistani imam Auu Dawoou (202-275) Nihayah, Mubarak Ibn Muhammad Abus Saáadaat

Mujduddin Ibn al Athir Asshaibani Aljazri (544-

Nafúl Mufti Was Saaíi, Muhammad Abdul Hay Ibn Muhammad Abdul Haleem Abul Hasanaat Lakhnawi (1264-1304, 1848-1887) Ibn Majah, Muhammad Ibn Yazeed Ibn Majah Rabí

The Beard of the Sunnats of Ambiya

I.S.B.N. 969-8863-63-X